IMPERIAL OIL DROPS FUEL OIL, GAS PRICE

A number of Imperial Oil Company service station operators made immediate downward adjustments on gasoline prices today on learning from the company that the wholesale price of gasoline had dropped one-half cent and light fuel oils a fifth-cent.

The announcement was made in Winnipeg, and will apply throughout Manitoba and western Canada.

The reduction here will range from 0.3 to 0.5 cents, depending on the individual operator. Company officials said the responsibility of retail prices lies solely wth the retailers.

Two dealers handling another make of gasoline said they had not heard of the Imperial Oil price drop, but that if Imperial dealers cut prices, others would follow suit within a few days.

In some instances local gas pump operators had made price adjustments by mid-morning.

'Hazel' Wrecks 120-Mile Area

Smashes Through Carolinas; Multi-Million Dollars Damage

TORONTO (BUP)—Torrential rains swept across the Toronto area today, and Hurricane Hazel was not far behind.

A full inch of rain fell on the city in four early-morning hours, blocking every traffic route into the city, flooding subways, roads and basements and causing a rash of traffic accidents.

Weather officials said more rain and strong winds were due tonight as the hurricane—worst of the season so far—heads north across western New York State. Seamen on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario were warned they may be hit by winds of 40 to 70 miles per hour.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, still packing winds of 100 miles an hour, smashed its way northward through eastern North Carolina today after wreaking havoc along 120 miles of the Carolinas coastline.

There were no immediate reports of serious casualties among the well-warned residents of the coast. Most of them sought safer quarters. A few minor injuries were reported from falling debris.

Property damage ran into millions of dollars as the storm tore up coastal installations, washed away houses and snarled communications. Heaviest damage was caused by towering waves.

It was moving north at about 27 miles an hour and the weather bureau said it gradually would lose force as it moved over the land across North Carolina, Virginia and into the North Atlantic states.

FREIGHTERS ADRIFT

The North Carolina State highway patrol reported three freighters broke loose from their moorings at Wilmington and were moving down the Cape Fear River. It was feared they might strike highway bridges in their path.

Nelson Calhoun, Wilmington Star-News photographer, reported seeing the 40-room, four-story Breakers Hotel, near Carolina Beach, south of Wilmington, collapse after winds had ripped off its roof. Nobody was reported hurt.

GERMAN ARMS NATO MEETING BEARS FRUIT

PARIS (UP)—A special North Atlantic Treaty Organization group preparing the way for German rearmament and entry into the Western alliance has reached a large measure of agreement, an official announcement said today.

Voyager Stiff After 115 Days On Tiny Raft

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP)—William Willis reached his Samoan goal today after 115 days at sea on a 35-foot raft and with a grin said "It feels strange to walk."

The 61-year-old veteran of the sea, who had followed the drift of the current more than 6,000 miles from Peru, was towed into harbor and received a tumultuous welcome from Samoans. (See story page 2.)

London Dockers Reject Call To End Strike

Government May Order Army Out

LONDON (UP)—A left-wing stevedores' union tonight turned down a government appeal to call off the London dock strike.

The appeal was made on behalf of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government by Minister of Labor Sir Walter Monckton, in a meeting with the National Amalgamated Dockers and Stevedores Union. The union had ordered the labor stoppage that now has idled 29,000 dock workers and ships repairmen in the great London port.

Churchill's cabinet met urgently to consider possible new steps to end the Communist-encouraged port tie-up which already is pinching the British housewife's pocketbook.

The price of eggs skyrocketed six cents a dozen today and tea went up seven cents a pound as shortages began developing from the port shutdown.

An accompanying strike by busmen reduced London's traffic to chaos.

Leftwing Labor leaders were threatening to make the dock tie-up nation wide.

When Churchill summoned his ministers to 10 Downing Street, it was for their third special session in four days.

The extraordinary session began after Labor Minister Sir Walter Monkton, on Churchill's instructions, had called all sides of the dispute in for separate talks.

The government was almost certain to call in troops to unload shipments of food and other vital supplies sooner or later.

The walkout on the docks is now into its 12th day.

The Communists were in full cry, calling on railwaymen, engineers, shipbuilders and miners to follow the lead of the 22,000 striking stevedores and the kindred walkout of 15,746 busmen.

Light Plane on Long Hop

Attempt at smashing world long-distance record for light planes was launched from Patricia Bay Airport this morning by American sportsman-flyer in single-engine Cessna 170, similar to plane above owned by R. W. Page of Victoria. Flyer is D. A. Fuhriman, 45, of Utah, who has been defeated three times before in long-distance attempts.

Record for Light Planes Sought by Utah Sportsman

A lone American sportsman-flyer took off from Patricia Bay Airport at 10.07 this morning, to attempt a 2,700-mile, non-stop flight to Cuba in a Cessna 170, single-engine aircraft.

His objective is to set the world's long distance record for light planes.

His attempt came as a complete surprise to airport officials. The flyer, D. A. Fuhriman, 45, of Treemonton, Utah, whose hobby is light plane flying, arrived at Pat Bay from Seattle at 9.22 a.m.

Filing of his flight plan with the control tower was the first notice of his record-breaking attempt.

This is his fourth attempt at a light plane long distance record. The other three were defeated by bad weather or fuel shortage.

The cabin of Mr. Fuhriman's light plane was crammed with extra gas containers when he took off this morning. The plane carried 190 gallons of gas. According to the flight plan, he has enough gas for 26 hours of flying, and he expects to reach Tampa, Florida, in 24 hours.

"If I have enough gas in hand, I'll go on to Havana," he told airport workers.

TAKE-OFF EXCELLENT

The 2,600-mile flight to Tampa would also be a world's record, he said. The present record was set in 1951 by Max Conrad, Los Angeles to New York.

Control tower officials described the take-off as "excellent," despite the heavy load the plane was carrying. The Cessna used up most of the east-west runway before it was airborne, but the climbing angle was "normal."

Besides gas, the plane carries only the pilot, radio and navigation equipment, sandwiches and coffee.

"If I get a break in the weather, I'll make it," Mr. Fuhriman said. He expects good weather with the exception of a cloud front hanging over Florida, which he hopes will have moved by the time he reaches there.

However, airport officials said that heavy winds were reported 600 miles south of Seattle this morning, moving in a northeasterly direction, and may give the flier trouble.

Claude Butler of Butler Brothers, Victoria, who owns a similar plane, believes Mr. Fuhriman has a "fighting chance," but may have cut his fuel requirements "pretty fine."

Mr. Butler describes the Cessna as a four-place, high-wing, cabin aircraft. Its single engine develops 145 horsepower, and normal cruising speed is 125 miles per hour, with a normal range of 500 miles.

FORMER FARMER

Mr. Fuhriman, a former farmer who is now an executive with an aviation company, made his last attempt at the world's record in January, on a flight from Seattle to Miami. He was forced down by lack of fuel 170 miles short of his objective.

Earlier, he attempted to fly from Alaska to Washington, D.C., and failed due to weather conditions.

His flight plan called for flying at a comparatively low altitude until enough gas was used to enable him to reach higher altitudes for more economical fuel consumption. Under normal cruising conditions, the Cessna uses about seven gallons per hour.

Supervisors Crash Ford Picket Line

Strikers Jostle With Policemen

From BUP, CP Dispatches

OAKVILLE, Ont.—Police and pickets clashed today in the first day of a strike of 2,600 assembly line workers at Ford of Canada's Oakville plant.

The United Auto Workers' Union strikers (CIO), marching in a drenching downpour, tried in vain to push back a carload of Ford supervisors as provincial police escorted them into the plant.

Pickets claimed William Walker, the Oakville general manager, "nearly ran down three of our men."

The union had imposed a ban on plant supervisors, although it was allowing office, maintenance, fire protection and cafeteria employees to go through the line.

The tense situation developed after provincial police took over direction of heavy traffic near the plant's east gate.

A further strike that could idle a total of 10,000 men in Ford's Ontario empire seemed imminent.

WANT NATIONAL PACT

At Windsor, George Burt, Canadian regional director of the UAW, said strike demands now will include a national Ford contract.

This would mean that Ford employees at company installations all across Canada would be included under one contract settled at one negotiating session. The demand was first made about the time the UAW was certified bargaining agent at the new Oakville plant.

At that time Ford officials said it was not possible because of differing conditions in different parts of the country.

'21 YEARS OF MY LIFE WASTED'

Whisky-Drinking Blonde Fights Pilot; Tries to Jump 8,000 Ft.

GLEN ROCK, N.J. (UP)—A 29-year-old pilot described in harrowing detail today how a whisky-drinking blonde, who had chartered his plane, went berserk and tried to jump out, 8,000 feet over Philadelphia.

Louis Phillipe, Jr., said the woman scratched and bit him, tore off his earphones and then pushed herself out of the cockpit door "up to her hips."

He banked the single-engined plane sharply on its left wingtip, he said, and she slid back inside. She began screaming and he had to "rabbit punch" her twice on the back of the neck to quiet her, Phillipe said.

The woman, tall, blue-eyed Louise Lynch, 36, of Flushing, N.Y., was taken to Bergen Pines Hospital in Paramus, N.J., for psychiatric examination after Phillipe made an emergency landing at nearby Teterboro airport.

Police captured the woman after she leaped from the plane at the airport and ran across the field in her bare feet. At Bergen County police headquarters she ripped off her red bouffant dress and raced down a corridor in her petticoat when officials sought to search her.

Police said she screamed, "21 years of my life wasted," and talked of a broken 20-year-old romance with a New York labor leader identified only as "Tracy." Police said the labor leader lived in Flushing, but residents there said they did not know the woman.

The pilot said the ordeal left him feeling "lucky to be alive."

VANCOUVER POLICE FREE TO STRIKE, SAYS COURT

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The police force of Canada's third largest city was free to take strike action today but union president Fred Dougherty said a walkout was not planned at present.

Recommendations of an arbitration board which called for pay increases and a new promotional policy were rejected in Supreme Court Thursday. Mr. Justice MacFarlane ruled the recommendations did not constitute an award, and said the police were free to take strike action.

Union officials said they were "very disappointed" in the court decision and indicated an appeal might be launched. (See story, Page 3).

ON UNEMPLOYMENT

B.C. Doing Share Wicks Tells TUC

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP) — Lyle Wicks, Social Credit provincial labor minister, told the British Columbia Trade Union Congress here that the federal government should be building "three Trans-Canada highways" as its share of combatting the problem of unemployment.

Wicks said that as its share of easing the situation, the British Columbia government was planning to start work on a new bridge outside the city "as soon as possible" and other measures included the Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension and "other public works projects."

EMERGENCY SESSION?

The minister's statement came after a convention call for a federal public works program to combat "rising unemployment."

Today the convention will decide whether it will ask for an emergency session of the Legislature to focus national attention on the job situation, described by union delegates as "Canada's number one problem."

FEDERAL PROGRAM

The convention called for a federal program to include roads, schools, hospitals, low rental housing and the development of natural resources.

The labor body also called for socialization of the B.C. Electric. (See page 3.)

WIRE BRIEFS

A's Stay in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Twenty wealthy Philadelphia industrialists today pooled $150,000 each which they said was sufficient to keep the Philadelphia Athletics from being transferred to Kansas City.

Plowmen Rained Out

BRESLAU, Ont. (CP)—The Canadian championship plowing competition of the international plowing match was postponed today because of heavy rain.

Canadian Sales Poor

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Canadian sales under the International Wheat Agreement last week were the lowest of the current crop year, with only 704,000 bushels sold to 16 countries and three territories, the Canadian Wheat Board reported today.

Hope for Strike End

TORONTO (BUP) — Chief concilator Louis Fine called a meeting today of Massey-Harris Ferguson Company officials and its striking workers, raising hopes for an end to the one-month walkout.

Wheat Crop Forecasts Still Sliding

OTTAWA (CP)—Government statisticians are preparing to make another big slash in the official estimate of Canada's weather-beaten wheat crop.

The crop was estimated at 377,900,000 bushels on the basis of conditions Sept. 1.

But today the bureau of statistics took official note of "extremely adverse harvesting conditions" on the Prairies during the greater part of September

Ho Chi Minh May Seek Loan From France

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Indo-China's Red chieftain, Ho Chi Minh, who won Northern Indo-China and this once-prosperous "Pearl City" of the French empire in a bitter eight-year war, was reported today to be seeking French loans or credits to keep it going.

"Uncle Ho" is scheduled to make his formal entry into his new capital here Saturday.

French authorities have denied persistent rumors that the French would extend a credit of about $2,870,000 to the Viet Minh. They fear to risk antagonizing both the United States and Free South Vietnam, to which they have promised all-out aid.

But there is no doubt France would like to preserve economic ties with Hanoi and the Communist north, to protect French citizens and cultural interests in the Red River delta.

STRYCHNINE MURDER CASE

Bell Clawed Himself In Agony Says Doctor

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—Mrs. Mary Bell dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief today while a doctor described how her husband, whom she is accused of giving a fatal dose of strychnine, died in agony.

Dr. R. H. Anderson testified at the 48-year-old widow's murder trial that he was called at 3 a.m. Jan. 2 and arrived at the Bell home some 20 minutes before Percy Bell died.

He said Bell was conscious and cried out that the pain was "awful," but he was unable to tell him what was the matter.

The doctor said he was unwilling to come at first "because of holiday over-indulgence."

Anderson said Bell was moaning softly when he found him and there were marks on the chest indicaing "the patient had clawed himself in distress."

When he went downstairs to prepare a hypodermic, he said, Bell had another convulsion and had vomited so strongly that there was a "brown substance" on the bed and the wall.

After the hypodermic, he said, Bell went into another convulsion and died. He said the only cause of death he could think of under the circumstances was a cerebal hemorrhage and so he signed a death certificate to that effect.

BOSS TOO BEAUTIFUL—BRITISH LASSES STRIKE

BLACKBURN, Eng. (UP)—Union officials today sided with 490 women employees who went on strike protesting that a 25-year-old red-haired forewoman was "too young and beautiful" for the job.

The women went back to work only after a hasty union-management meeting—and after the lovely forewoman went home.

Union officials asked management to consider demoting her. But the London Daily Mirror rallied to her defense.

"Do the factory lasses resent her because she is a young woman boss?" the tabloid asked.

"May we make the daring suggestion that what counts in holding down a job and winning promotion is ability?"

Crossworders Fail; Prize Jumps to $350

Times crossword fans failed for the eleventh successive week to solve the fine shades of meaning in Puzzle No. 81, with the result that the prize money for the new puzzle jumps to $350, one of the highest points the puzzle has reached.

The $350 would go to a bonus winner who is a regular subscriber if a correct solution of puzzle No. 82 is submitted.

One of the "toughies" of the last puzzle was the answer "cent" for No. 5 down; "not having it, a man may have no roof over his head." The composer rules this is a better answer than "rent" or "tent" which many puzzlers gave. "Mad," "printer," "sell," and "retort" were among other sticklers. The complete explanation of the last puzzle and the new $350 puzzle are on page 27.

New Yorker Ends Lonely 6,000-Mile Odyssey Sailing Tiny Raft From Peru to Pago Pago

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (UP)—William Willis, 61-year-old New York adventurer, arrived safely at this tiny South Pacific island Thursday after sailing a balsa raft 6,000 miles from Callao, Peru, in 115 days to overshadow the odyssey of the famed Kon-Tiki.

Willis, who had been virtually given up for dead in many quarters, appeared hale and hearty behind a bronze suntan and a waist-length beard as he was met by the Samoan government vessel Manuatele, about 30 miles northeast of here.

He started his journey on the Humboldt current from the west coast of South America last June 22 with only a cat and a parrot for companionship.

The cat was still with him when he was met Thursday, but the parrot had failed to make it.

The Manuatele, with Samoan Gov. Richard B. Lowe aboard, had been searching for Willis since last Tuesday when the raft, named "Seven Little Sisters" was first reported sighted off Tau Island, 70 miles east of the main island of Tutuila. The vessel also carried a doctor—just in case—but Willis apparently was in no need of medical attention.

High seas and poor visibility prevented the searchers from spotting the raft until 11:30 a.m. (2.30 p.m. PST).

The solitary sailor declined to leave the raft when the reception party pulled alongside, but permitted a line attached to tow him the remaining 30 miles to port.

Progress was slow due to danger of the towline breaking and Willis was not expected to set foot ashore until after nightfall. Floodlights were ordered set up to illuminate the landing scene.

Willis sailed nearly 1,700 miles farther than the famed Kon-Tiki expedition of 1947 and was 13 days longer at sea.

The five-man Kon-Tiki crew, headed by Thor Hyerdahl, embarked from Callao April 29, 1947, and landed at Rarola Atoll in the Taumotu Archipelago on August 7, covering 4,300 miles in 102 days.

Willis sailed right on through the Taumotus to the heart of American Samoa, going almost a third further than the other expedition in an extra 13 days.

Hyerdahl and his companions made their trip to prove a theory that pre-Incan Indians from South America could have settled the Polynesian Islands by drifting to them on ocean currents. Their raft was named for a prehistoric Indian god.

Willis, a veteran sailor, set out to prove that a good seaman could conquer the ocean alone, using what water and food he could get from the sea.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Onnie Laine of Barnet, B.C., will probably pick a more exciting film to watch the next time he goes to a movie theatre here.

He told police he fell asleep while in a downtown cinema with a friend yesterday.

State Department's Not Home To GOP Politicos Seeking Help

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has gone to unusual lengths to keep the state department and foreign policy from becoming embroiled in the election campaign, it was learned today.

Dulles himself has cancelled several speeches and avoided making statements that might be controversial. Other top department officials have carefully followed his lead. And the department has issued a 600-word warning to all employees in this country to scrupuously avoid improper political activity.

Scott McLeod, Dulle's top aide on security affairs, isn't making any campaign speeches this year, although he made a political speaking trip through South Dakota and Wyoming last February that kicked up a major inter-party row.

The anti-politicking policy extends all the way to the island of Mallorc off the Spanish coast. Thurston Morton, assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, is there on a two-month leave of absence which he requested so he could avoid any campaign commitments. As a former congressmen from Kentucky, he feared heavy pressure to help the party out.

YIPPEE!—In Oakville, Ont., police hit the downtown trail last night with lariats after a herd of cattle broke away from a transport. They had little trouble roping "doggies" who stuck to the front yards, but had quite a bit of trouble with seven that plunged into Lake Ontario.

DUFRESNE IN ANGRY SPEECH

Quebec Tory Lashes Out At St. Laurent's Stand

QUEBEC (CP)—Wilfrid Dufresne, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Quebec West, said Thursday night he would rather see an English-speaking prime minister at the head of Canada's government than "a French-speaking one who cannot stand on his own two feet."

In an angrily-worded speech to his electors in the Quebec working district of St. Sauveur, the French-speaking member said Prime Minister St. Laurent once said French-language rights in Canada could be "struck out by a stroke of the pen."

The French language is treated "with contempt" by some persons in the federal government and some members of Parliament, Mr. Dufresne said.

"I would prefer to have an English-speaking prime minister ready to make us some concessions than a French-speaking one who cannot stand on his own two feet."

Mr. Dufrsne said he was making the speech as a result of a promise he had made during his 1953 election campaign to render an account of his work in Ottawa.

Mr. Dufresne indirectly spun part of his speech around a speech Mr. St. Laurent made in Quebec Sept. 18 in which the prime minister said he did not accept the view that Quebec province is not "like other provinces."

"We are proud not to be like other provinces, here, in Quebec, and we intend to stay just as we are.

"It is only on this condition that it will be possible for us to play the role that Providence has entrusted to us on this Canadian land, a role that was conceived and fulfilled in the best interests of the Canadian nation."

B.C. Electric Socialization Asked by TUC

Vancouver Parley Approves Over BCE Employee Objections

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the B.C. Trades Union Congress convention Thursday overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling for public ownership of the power, transit and gas services of the B.C. Electric Company.

The 175 delegates also went on record as favoring provincial government development of all hydro potential.

In passing the resolution dealing with the B.C. Electric, the convention spurned objections from employees of the company.

Delegates were in a near uproar in an attempt to define "B.C. Electric Company" scope and whether the resolution intended only transit system purchase.

The motion called for immediate purchase action by the province, saying that continued fare increases are at a dangerous peak and the Public Utilities Commission is not capable of giving protection from the demands.

Some opponents said the motion was a "political wedge to defeat the government," while proponents termed the company a "political factor in B.C."

BCE office employees William Lowe and Everett King warned that 5,000 employees concerned would become civil servants without bargaining rights, while SRU spokesman Charles Stewart declared that in any decision his men would not subsidize transit operations by private or public ownership through low wages.

Tom Alsbury of Vancouver spoke in favor of public ownership only if this case included transit, gas and power. The convention must think of all citizens, he said in support of the resolution, and not just of the employees concerned.

The convention earlier had stormed through debate which ended in a call for provincial government development of all hydro potentials of B.C. Delegates also went on record as unalterably opposed to ownership and control of hydro-power potentials of B.C. and Canada by any private interest or foreign country.

Advocates Reduced Working Hours

During heated debate on a federal public works program, Victor Midgley, a Victoria carpenter, said there were only two alternatives to the unemployment problem—war or reduced working hours.

Midgley said "the idea of public works as a means of doing away with unemployment . . . never has, and it never will, settle the question.

"We have but two alternatives to these recurring sieges of unemployment. Only another war, or shorter work hours, will give us full employment."

The convention will decide today whether it will ask an emergency session of the Legislature to focus national attention on what delegates describe as "Canada's number one problem—unemployment."

In a 36-minute address at the morning session, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks defended his government's bitterly-criticized Labor Relations Act.

He said the controversial legislation is "standing on its own feet" and will "take the test of time."

The minister said labor men who had strongly opposed the act actually benefitted from it.

"You may not have been too vocal about your appreciation but there's no doubt it has done you good."

Police Arbitration Ruling Waived by Supreme Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Supreme Court Thursday set aside recommendations of a police arbitration board and returned to Chief Walter Mulligan the right to promote officers he thinks fit.

In a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, the court said the recommendations of a police arbitration board were not binding on Vancouver City because they did not constitute an award.

The board had recommended a committee be set up to devise a promotional scheme to be followed by Chief Mulligan, and that men temporarily filling higher ranks be given the pay of that rank so long as they held them.

The court action was instigated by the city which questioned the board's authority to make such recommendations. Chief Mulligan had threatened to resign if he could no longer continue his own promotion system without the advice of a committee.

The arbitration board recommendations followed study of a dispute between the city and the 650-member Police Federal Union (TLC-AFL).

The board also recommended a three per cent pay increase for police officers retroactive to March 1. It was not immediately known how Mr. Justice Macfarlane's decision would effect the wage recommendation.

Constables now receive $329 a month plus service pay with sergeants and detectives receiving $362.

Wreck of Yukon Plane Located After 11-Day Search; 4 Men Dead

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—One of the Yukon's biggest air searches ended Thursday when a helicopter set down on the southern slopes of Fox Mountain, 96 miles northeast of here, and its crew found the burned wreckage of a small commercial plane with all four occupants dead.

Killed were pilot George Milne of Whitehorse; R. R. Ross of Ottawa, a federal government road engineer, and two unidentified Indian guides from Ross River, Y.T.

Their plane, a single-engined, amphibious Beaver, operated by Whitehorse Flying Services Ltd., vanished in a snowstorm Oct. 2 while on a 250-mile round-trip flight between Whitehorse and Ross River.

Fourteen civil and RCAF aircraft from Whitehorse, Edmonton and Vancouver and a ground party searched 11 days before the Beaver's wreckagee was spotted from the air Wednesday by Flt. Lt. A. E. Richards of the Whitehorse RCAF search and rescue unit.

The charred ruins were not positively identified until Thursday when a Hudson's Bay Exploration Co. helicopter landed nearby.

HIT MOUNTAIN

One searcher said the plane apparently crashed into the side of the mountain at about 6,000 feet while trying to turn out of a snow-swept canyon. It was badly smashed and partly burned.

The bodies were taken to Ross River and were later to be flown by helicopter to Whitehorse. Meanwhile, a federal department of transport official was reported en route to Whitehorse from Edmonton to investigate the crash.

It was learned Thursday one of the searching aircraft, an RCAF helicopter, was wrecked Oct. 6 when it crashed while landing for fuel. No one was injured.

The Beaver's wreck was the second of its kind in western Canada within a few days. An RCAF Expediter crashed into a mountainside on Vancouver Island Sunday.

In this disaster also, four persons died.

Another Attempt at Control

THE WORLD HAS LEARNED to be wary of disarmament proposals. Too many times high hopes have been dashed, good intentions frustrated. Too often a disarmament proposal has proved to be merely a vehicle for communist diatribes against "western warmongers", or a chance to score a debating point in an international forum.

But while the diplomats' approach to this vital world problem may have become cautious, even suspicious, it is encouraging that few proposals for the reduction of arms fail to receive constructive replies. While the nations are still anxious to talk about disarmament there is hope that the ideal may yet become a reality.

Such is the reaction following Canada's proposal that the five atomic powers meet once more to try to agree on some system of limitation of nuclear and other weapons. Health Minister Paul Martin, the Canadian spokesman at the United Nations, urged that "a further effort should be made to reach agreement on comprehensive and co-ordinated proposals to be embodied in a draft international disarmament convention." He felt that quicker progress could be made in a small committee than in the 60-nation group, and to this end recommended that the nations that met last spring for similar talks be again called together.

Britain, France and the United States quickly gave their approval to the plan, followed on Thursday by Russia. These countries, with Canada, comprise the sub-committee.

The proposed conference would have a note of optimism lacking in earlier talks by reason of Russia's latest disarmament recommendations. The new Soviet approach to the problem, while reminiscent in many ways of previous resolutions from that quarter, held promise of a more conciliatory attitude.

It must be remembered, of course, that the problem is not wholly a matter of atomic weapons. Russia's land and air forces are still maintained at unprecedented totals. Abolition of atomic weapons alone would leave the communist bloc with a huge advantage in conventional arms.

The accustomed Russian stand on atomic disarmament has been that arms must be reduced before any international agency is set up for control of the process. The Kremlin has in addition balked at the idea of complete inspection by an international commission, which the West sees as the only effective guarantee of good faith in control of atomic production.

However, in his U.N. speech of September 30, Andrei Vishinsky made the most detailed recommendations the Soviet has yet offered. These included formation of both a temporary international agency to ensure compliance with a disarmament agreement and a permanent international body to see that provisions continued to be carried out.

The Russian proposal appeared to move from insistence on "disarmament, then supervision," to at least a position of "disarmament and supervision together." This is closer to the Western principle of "a supervisory organ, then disarmament," and it will be from this improved position that the forthcoming talks will commence.

The development of the atomic bomb and then the hydrogen bomb served as notification to the world that armament control had become a matter of life and death for humanity. The further development of inter-continental bombers moving at supersonic speeds intensified the problem.

Now the experts tell us we are on the verge of an age of inter-continental guided missiles whose operational height and speed preclude any effective defense. Carrying hydrogen bombs such missiles, sped on their way in any quantity, could wipe out within a matter of minutes the resistance of any nation. That they could be launched without any advance warning adds further certainty to their deadliness.

These facts, too, will be in the minds of the delegates as they meet to discuss disarmament. Science appears to have issued an ultimatum to humanity which cannot be much longer ignored.

Drops in the Bucket

THE PRINCIPLE OF ECONOMIC aid to needy countries as a means of opposing Communist efforts to capture the population is now generally accepted in the West. That acceptance has given rise to several programs of assistance to the "have-nots."

One of these is the Colombo Plan, participants in which have just concluded a conference in Ottawa. Although the plan is not confined to Commonwealth nations, it is predominantly a Commonwealth project, and its objective is to assist the countries of south and southeast Asia to assist themselves.

Supplies of food and consumable goods are therefore a minor part of the program. The aid consists principally in the provision of capital assets—dams, irrigation projects, railways, factories — and the education at home or abroad of native students who in turn can pass on their new knowledge of engineering, sanitation, health and production techniques.

Within its limits the Colombo Plan is reported to be progressing well. But its scope is tragically small compared with the problems to be surmounted. Last year grants to the recipient nations totalled some $280 millions. In addition there were loans and other aid to the value of about $62 millions. These are small sums compared with rearmament totals — yet the returns from Colombo Plan investments could be far more significant that the benefits received from arms, necessary though the latter undoubtedly are.

Canada's contribution to the plan amounts to $25,400,000 a year, a very modest appropriation. There have been hints in Ottawa that this sum may be increased, although in a relatively minor way. The hesitation of the government is understandable, perhaps, but there is good reason to believe that the law-makers are far behind the country in their approach to foreign aid.

There can be little doubt that the people of Canada would approve a much larger annual contribution to the Colombo Plan, and this is a public attitude which the government might well explore. Seldom are charitable impulses and self-interest so jointly served as in this program; seldom so obvious the need and the ability to meet it.

Assembly Line Champions?

RED STAR YURII LITUYEV, competing in London this week, broke the world's 440 yards hurdle record on which he had set his eye before the track meet started.

His achievement adds one more to a long list of recent Russian athletic accomplishments. Just the other day Moscow Dynamos defeated in convincing style the Arsenal football club, once a leader of British soccer. Earlier a Soviet crew defeated a picked British eight. Last winter the U.S.S.R. ice hockey team overcame Canada's entry in the world amateur championship.

This all adds up to a simple reckoning. Russia is conducting a scientific, earnest and successful campaign to show the world that it can produce sports champions. The country is obtaining results by what its critics call a mass-production assembly-line system. That may be so, but it is producing winners.

The outcome of this campaign deserves thought in other nations which place high importance on the development of athletic skills. If they want to beat the Russians at the games the Russians have taken up, then they conceivably may have to adopt a similar technique to that of the successful Red athletic directors.

Before they follow such a course, however, it might be well to determine if the end would justify the means or if there is a more satisfactory alternative that will still build champions.

Australia is not a regimented communist state. Yet Australia, with a population somewhat more than half that of Canada, and with a highly favorable climate, turns out world beaters in any number of sports—track and field, swimming, tennis, cricket and, on occasions, rowing.

Perhaps our cousins "down under" have a system more applicable to the democratic temperament —a system which might be copied to a greater extent in such nations as Canada if they wish to climb a little higher in international athletics.

But it should not be forgotten that if countries like Canada want to produce world beaters, they will have to encourage a great number of young people to devote a tremendous amount of time to specialized sport. And they will have to decide whether or not the probable rewards in world recognition are worth the effort.

'Couldn't You Just Push It Off, Pop?'

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THE other day, over on the mainland, a writer was saying that we should have a Royal Commission to determine whether or not the Catholic schools are creating democratic citizens! If the commissioners were all Protestants, with as vague an idea of Catholicism as the writer in question, it might take fifty years to educate them and make them fit to pass judgment. By which time they might have been converted into Catholics themselves, which would make them no longer acceptable to the "democrats" who appointed them.

Brock

BY this time, after only one introductory paragraph, my Protestant readers are probably boiling with rage. So I should here explain that I am a Protestant myself by birth and education . . . though I am none too proud of the anti-Catholic patches of my education, and when I call myself a Protestant I sometimes wonder what I am protesting against. The writer I mentioned feels that his chief protest against Catholic education must be that it teaches the kids that "the end justifies the means." In other words, he is protesting against a doctrine that doesn't exist. He got that protest from Protestants who didn't know the first thing about Catholics.

He says that he himself would like to see compulsory education in our "non-denominational" schools. This might be a bit rough on the Catholics, he admits, but it is really necessary, in order to stop the Catholics from bringing up little war-mongers, like the Catholic McCarthy. (Wow.) Catholics, he feels, are less reasonable when faced by "problems that beset us with crucial consequences." ("Crucial," from "crux," a cross.)

OUR "non-denominational" schools, he says, teach a higher brand of morality, and teach the "uniquely English idea of fair play, morally." This is a new one on me. Do they teach the non-denominational kids any of the Catholic side of history? They do not! How's that for fair play? And here is the joke: your non-denominational school (and mine) is not really so very non-religious at that. It is based on Protestant dogma . . . oh, not on purpose, and not as any sly plot, but because it just can't help it. All our notions of history are Protestant notions . . . the idea of Progress, for exmple, though this particular idea now shows signs of honest doubt, for it may soon be impossible to think of ourselves as luckier than our grandfathers.

AND here is a test: no Protestant parent would mind having his son taught by a Baptist or a Congregationalist or a Presbyterian, though he himself happened to be a member of United Church. But he would be most uneasy at the thought of his boy learning history (or even Latin) at the feet of a Catholic, even if this could take place in a "non-denominational" school.

To the Protestant, as to the Catholic, a "non-denominational" school really means a Protestant one. A school where the children are taught that "progress" was invented about 1520 AD and has developed to its final peak of perfection in the kid. A school where the kids are taught that the Popes tried to prohibit chemistry. (This Protestant myth or dogma is based on the lie, accepted by many Catholics who read Protestant histories, that John XXIII issued a Bull at Avignon, prohibiting chemical experiment. One book quotes another. But there was no such Bull! What the Pope really did was to issue an excellent police order forbidding charlatans to take lead and brass from the ignorant under a promise of changing them to gold.)

BUT supposing we could have a truly non-denominational school, where no religion could exist? Would that please the Catholics any better? They, who believe that religion is or should be part of all one's habits of thought? In support of the writer I am quoting, there arose a Protestant Professor of Religious Education at Point Grey, and he said that everyone has the right to have our public schools altered to suit his theories, if he makes "representations" to Victoria and if Victoria agrees! This, he felt, should satisfy any Catholic. (In fairness . . . me and my English fair play . . . I must say he felt it should, not felt it would.)

NATURALLY, the remarks I have quoted, plus a few others, provoked a good many letters of Catholic protest. And the man who began this row printed some in his column, saying liberally that he denied everything they said but would defend to the death their right to say it. But would he really defend to the death their right, the Catholic parents' right, to their own children? For what he appears to be saying is that a parent has no right to his child's mind . . . or has, that is to say, less right to it than the state has. And this amounts to Thought Control.

I may be wrong, but in my opinion a state school is apt to teach a child that the state has such a right. And when this child grows up, he writes articles like the one I am objecting to . . . all in the interests of fair play and compulsion. And by his arguments he forces the Catholic to seem an enemy of the state! I can hardly call that fair play at all.

From Our Files

Oct. 15, 1894 — The tug Sadie visited D'Arcy Island and brought back a group of men who had erected six more cabins for use of the leper colony. Mayor Teague, aldermen and Dr. Lang, made the trip.

Oct. 15, 1914 — The Pollard Opera Company, composed of juveniles from Australia, is dividing honors at Pantages Theatre this week with the spectacular mechanical presentation of the wreck of the Titanic.

Oct. 15, 1934—Working in pairs, 210 men and women today covered Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and the wedge area of Saanich making voters' lists for the coming federal election.

As Our Readers See It

LIKES IT NATURAL

It seems strange indeed that our councillors would actually go to the length of wasting $20,000 of public funds on the futile project of "improving" Holland Point. This pleasant little corner of the park, where youngsters and dogs can romp without restrictions, and without danger from motor cars, will, in the minds of many, be quite ruined if the plan goes through.

How senseless to make a special lookout for motorists at a point which needs thousands spent on it in order to make it suitable for the purpose, when there are ready-made spots along the cliffs between Linden and Moss streets. Unless, of course, the idea is to give a close-up of the most remarkable assortment of garbage to be found between Skagway and the Straits of Magellan!

For those who prefer a more formal landscape we have acres of flower-beds in the park proper. It is not unreasonable to ask that we retain this small bit of natural countryside for the many citizens whose tastes run to this type of scenery.

NEWSPAPERS, EMPHASIS AND ACCURACY

While appreciating your newspaper's intentions to serve the public well by publishing the truth, the facts, and news of local, national and world affairs, I am disappointed in its performance.

I feel that there is too much energy wasted by your reporters on producing sensational stories and not enough energy used in checking facts and ensuring that all relevant facts are included in the news items.

To illustrate my first point, the gory details of the recent motor smash at the Blenkinsop crossroad, surely need not have been so minutely recorded. My second point is demonstrated by a front page article which referred to Dr. Malan as "the leader of the Dutch-descended Boer population," when in actual fact, he is only the leader of the Nationalist party. Admittedly the Nationalists are almost 100 per cent "Afrikaanse" which means of mainly Dutch or French Huguenot descent. But the opposition parties contain a very substantial minority of Afrikaanse members and would very much resent being labelled "Nationalist" or followers of Malan. Their allegiance was given to Jan Smuts, Malan's great opponent.

WANTS CD INFORMATION

I am deeply disturbed at the lack of civil defense in our city.

A public rally should be called or a petition started at once to back Mayor Harrison's demands to Ottawa. They are responsible for the defense of this vulnerable spot. However, the mayor and city council should appoint a capable leader as soon as possible to reorganize this vital necessity. He should be a local man with full knowledge of every part of the city and its people.

I also think a capable woman should be appointed to form an auxiliary to look after the handicapped and elderly people living outside of hospitals in the event a bomb fell or any other disaster took place.

At this time of uncertainty we should remember the Boy Scouts' motto, "Be Prepared." A terrible panic could be avoided. I'd like Mayor Harrison to tell us publicly just what is being done. As taxpayers we have a right to know and everyone should put their shoulder to the wheel. We don't want to be like Nero fiddling while Rome burned.

Cross-Country Viewpoints

IN EVERY SENSE
(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Communism is sparing no effort to commend itself to the peoples of the East in diverse ways—by the offer of financial and technical assistance, by posing as the champion of what it may claim to be "oppressed minorities", and by a systematic publicity campaign on the blessings and beauties of Communist life, economically, socially and culturally. Nor is it of much help to claim that its promises are empty, its propaganda false. Some more positive Western reply is needed, and the Colombo Plan and similar schemes of assistance are at once positive and constructive in every sense of the term.

SILENT UNION
(Montreal Gazette)

The judgment makes clear that the police system of the city lamentably failed to work. The failure was not due to indifference. Nor was it due to incompetence, in the sense of mere carelessness. Mr. Justice Caron is convinced that, by deliberate design, the law was not applied. He puts the situation strongly in these words: "The over-all activities of the police constituted a silent union, systematically organized to permit the existence of commercialized vice at definite places for the profit of known owners."

It is a heavy indictment.

INCREASED STATURE
(Toronto Globe & Mail)

Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Foreign Secretary, has made the right reply to the latest Russian proposals about Germany and, in so doing, has increased his stature as a statesman. The Conservative Party conference, at which Mr. Eden answered Moscow, cheered him for four minutes by the clock; and this was a most unusual display of enthusiasm by a British political audience. The ovation was a deserved tribute to the Foreign Secretary's achievements in recent months.

IN OTHER WORDS
(Montreal Star)

We claim to be no weather expert but let us warn those who are that we have had about enough of this no-summer-and-little-fall pattern that developed in 1954; and it does us no good at all to learn that the basic reason for it is a large-amplitude planetary wave development which originated in the Pacific ocean. It was just punk weather to us.

TO BE FACED
(Lethbridge Herald)

It is hard for people in other parts of Canada to believe that the combination of a weather disaster to the crops and the glut of heldover grain from three big crops should have such repercussions in the West. But the facts are there and have to be faced.

NO INSPIRATION?
(Ottawa Citizen)

Canada's refusal to increase its Colombo Plan contribution at this time will no doubt cause general disappointment, for criticism of the country's role in the project has always emphasized that not enough was being done. In explaining Canada's position, Mr. Walter Harris, the minister of finance, said that the initial "blush of inspiration" had gone, and that this was not the time to plan for the future so much as to consolidate existing projects. A majority of the Canadian cabinet, which is probably too old to blush, has never appeared to be very inspired with respect to the Colombo Plan at any time.

MORE IMPORTANT
(Calgary Herald)

The driving test at best is designed merely to test the potential driver's knowledge of road rules and his ability to perform certain basic operations such as stopping, starting, parking and so on. It is well to be certain that he can do these things and that he is physically capable of driving. But that is only the beginning.

What is more important is that, being able to operate a motor vehicle, he be aware of the dangers involved and the ordinary precautions and road manners that make the difference between a motorist and a menace on our highways.

Through the Combined Efforts of Everyone

(Winnipeg Free Press)

EVENTS of the past few days should at least destroy complacency on civil defense: it is in a mess.

Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence has resigned as civil defense co-ordinator for Toronto and York because he felt he could not do a proper job under present conditions. The Victoria civil defense board has dismissed its staff on the ground that it is useless to have a local defense organization when there is no confidence in the national program. Dissatisfaction with Canada's program has been expressed in Winnipeg by some members of the metropolitan civil defense board.

Where does the responsibility for this situation lie? There is a tendency, because civil defence affects the whole nation, to lay all the blame on the federal government. This may be natural but it is hardly fair.

Some critics would have civil defence removed from the department of health and welfare and returned to the department of national defense.

CIVILIAN RESPONSIBILITY

A drawback to this change would be that, while civil defense is closely linked with military operations, it is in essence and nature a civilian responsibility. It might be difficult for the defense department to work closely with civilian bodies. The health and welfare department, on the other hand, has had long experience in this type of inter-governmental co-operation.

Nor should it be forgotten that, although the federal government must play a leading role in civil defence, the organization of each city is that city's own business. Federal authorities have no power to dictate to a city what it must or must not do.

Municipalities are, however, creatures of the provincial governments. The only legal way by which municipalities could be compelled to do the job they are supposed to be doing is for the provinces to step in and act as forcibly as they can. The other side of the coin is that some provinces should also show a greater desire and degree of willingness to work with the federal government than they have displayed so far.

Winnipeg is in a happier position than many other cities in this regard. Civil defence plans for the city are being worked out in conjunction with those for the province, thus assuring a maximum of co-ordination and a minimum of over-lapping and confusion. This example of municipal-provincial co-operation could be copied to advantage by other cities.

Some way of ensuring co-operation must be found. After that, the next step is for the provinces to work with the federal authorities to fit their programs into a national pattern, for which the federal government should provide the core of expert planners. Civil defense cannot be allowed to go hang just because three levels of government are involved.

The danger above all others that confronts civil defense today is apathy; apathy on the part of individuals and of governments. The hydrogen bomb has necessitated a complete reappraisal of every phase of civil defense organization, and has made an effective program more essential than ever.

This is not the time for us to wring our hands and sit apathetically awaiting the worst. Greater danger brings a greater need for the means of combating that danger. This can only be achieved through the combined efforts of everyone whom that danger threatens. That is all of us.

BEHOLDER'S EYE

Every human being has a natural need for beauty and if that need is not satisfied, a part of him, a vital part, starves and atrophies. We are mostly so starved, and even the few exceptions are unhappy —the best of them—because they see beauty being despised, neglected and destroyed, whilst the vast majority are unhappy because (though they don't know it) they can't see beauty at all.

—Clough Williams-Ellis, Welsh architect.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Young Voice From the Woods

I have acquired a first edition. That doesn't make me a bibliophile. The Bodleian Library folk haven't been after me for it, nor have the Carnegie people.

There's little possibility of me selling it and retiring on the proceeds. It's value isn't commercial. I don't judge it in terms of artistic binding, though there is a certain artistry there, nor on a basis of superlative writing. It's importance rests almost entirely in what it represents.

Stott

The first edition is a copy of "The Ranger," produced by hand, mimeograph machine and kodak, to tell the story of the junior division of the South Vancouver Island Rangers Inc.

This is no slick production with a highly professional touch. The writers aren't high-priced wordsmiths. And that, I think, is one reason why the first edition of "The Ranger" is a rather impressive document. It's so genuine, so earnest, the rough edges themselves express sincerity.

CITIZENSHIP

It's an important little booklet because it conveys, with an agreeable reticence, the sentiments and outlines the activities of a group of young people in this community who are learning woodlore and good citizenship. They're the youngsters who, among other things, built the trail to the summit of Mount Finlayson to help more people who haven't much mountain goat blood in them to see a fine panorama and to enjoy the healthy pleasures of hiking and not too strenuous climbing.

They're boys who trekked on an overnight jaunt from Jordan River, through Jordan Meadows to Port Renfrew, learning a little more of the country that is close to them, fishing, studying game and predator sign, developing a keen eye for the vegetation and wild fruit of the region, and becoming proficient in making and breaking a clean camp.

To them is being given special training in the use of firearms, in conservation, in law observance and enforcement, and in woodcraft. They will, in a very few years, be the men who shoulder an increasing share of the responsibilities assumed by the senior Rangers. As such they will come into service in hunts for missing persons, in helping to protect the wilderness and, probably more important, in teaching a new generation of boys how to move around in the woods and by the streams.

There aren't very many Junior Rangers. Their ranks could be much fuller to the benefit of the community. But then, all youngsters interested in the outdoors aren't members. A lot of them have an inclination toward individualism which shuns association in groups, and there's nothing wrong with that. Only it takes an organization, some times, to keep up a lively interest in a particular form of recreation. And it takes an organization to undertake such projects as the Finlayson trail.

Beyond that, the Junior Rangers assume a pretty important place in the scheme of things for this country. We keep hearing, from more densely populated parts of the continent, about the asphalt jungles. We keep getting variations of the theme indicating the importance of the tree that grew in Brooklyn. We're impressed by accounts of the mechanical, materialistic and often synthetic world in which a great number of children are growing up.

That makes it important to teach some feet to tread the pine-needle carpet of a forest trail, to encourage more people to breathe deep of the fresh air, to find serenity in the quiet scene away from the highway. They aren't going to be Alexander Mackenzies, Simon Frasers, David Thompsons or even the sons of the pioneers. But it doesn't hurt them to know something of the type of country those people knew, to feel something of the atmosphere in which they moved. And it doesn't hurt them to learn a few practical things about handling guns, lighting cooking fires and knowing how to avoid being permanently lost in the bush.

A FEELING FOR NATURE

You feel, as you scan the items in "The Ranger," that the youngsters who compiled it have a certain amount of this knowledge and, more significent, have a feeling for the forest and hill and stream and those intangibles that spring from them to nourish decent human instincts and good citizenship.

They aren't too poetically articulate when they express themselves on these themes. But if they say with conviction only one short line quoted in their publication—"He who destroys the land, destroys himself"—they're making better sense than a lot of writers do these days.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Ear Noises

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Hundreds of people have asked me about ear noises with or without dizziness and deafness. Most of them say that after having spent large sums of money on examinations and treatments they are just where they were when they started.

The best ear men I know usually dismiss these people after a few minutes of searching examination. Often they say, especially to the older person, "I can't find anything wrong with your ears; the trouble isn't there, and hence I cannot hope to help you.

Dr. Alvarez

"Your trouble must be up in your nerve centers, and what is probable is that the dizzy spell you had when you almost blacked out and were afraid you were having a little stroke, was due, as you thought, to the plugging up of a little artery in a part of your brain."

To other patients the good aurist will say, "You have otosclerosis, and I doubt if any ear man can help you much. I think you had better try a hearing-aid." What does the doctor mean by otosclerosis?

Generally he means that the joints between the little bones in the middle ear have become so arthritic that the little lever formed by the three bones no longer works well in transmitting sound vibrations from the drum to the little window into the inner ear.

In some cases in which a person is getting deaf, the ear specialist will say: "I think you are a suitable case for Dr. Lampert's fenestration operation. It think it worth trying." What does he mean by a fenestration operation? Fenestra in Latin means a window, and what the ear surgeon does is to make a little window through the bone into the inner ear. With this the patient may hear well again, and sometimes, with this, the ear noises will cease.

Other persons, and usually young ones with sudden short spells of ear noises, slight deafness, marked vertigo (a sensation of spinning around) and perhaps nausea and vomiting, will have their disease diagnosed for them the minute they tell their typical story.

MENIERE'S SYNDROME

They have Meniere's syndrome (or group of symptoms). In them the otologist's tests will show an injury to the balancing mechanism situated alongside of the inner ear. Usually, what is wrong is a swelling of the membrance which lines the little tubes. When this swelling clears away by itself, or is helped to clear away, perhaps by a salt-poor diet and some nicotinic acid, the patient is better.

Otologists tell me that most of the older patients they see with a diagnosis of Meniere's disease actually do not have it. Most of them had a little stroke and have no disease in the ear. For instance, the other day a nice woman of 62 came in to say she wanted me to treat her for Meniere's disease. She said she was dizzy and had ear noises.

I asked her if things spun around. "No," said she, "I just feel at times as if my sense of balance were not trustworthy." I asked if the trouble came in spells, and she said, "No," it had been almost constant since a morning when she had had a bad blackout, which had made her feel frightened and strange. More questions showed that for a while that morning she had seen double, and since then she had felt very tired. (Seeing double showed there had been an injury at a distance from the ears and their nerves). She had become forgetful and she had lost interest in many things. In a minute, with simple tests, I found that the woman's hearing was good. Evidently, she had had a fairly severe little stroke.

I think it should be obvious that if one's ears are normal one cannot hope to get a cure from aurists.

Unfortunately, there is not much in a curative way that can be done for a little stroke, and this in why so many thousands of persons, after spending hundreds or thousands of dollars for the treatment of their ear noises and their poor sense of balance, are no better. I wish I knew of some good treatment to tell about, but I don't.

A SHAKING HEAD

Quite a few persons ask if anything can be done for a shaking head. I doubt it. It generally comes in aging persons, and then the probability is that it is due to the plugging up of some little artery supplying blood to a certain place in the brain which steadies the movements of our muscles.

The shaking head may be related to the shaking hand of Parkinson's disease or "shaking palsy." In some cases a shaking head or hand seems to be due to a hereditary tendency.

Unfortunately, if the shaking is due to the destruction of a little bit of the brain, one cannot expect ever to get a complete cure because the lost part cannot be built back. I cannot remember having read of any good medicine for these unfortunate people. I know that in many cases the shaking remains about the same for 10 or 15 or 20 years.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime — A WEBSTER CLASSIC

STAY SINGLE 6 MONTHS 99-YEAR-OLD WARNED

IOLA, Kan. (AP)—A man who will be 100 years old next May was granted a divorce Thursday and told he must not get married again within the next six months.

Thomas K. Kimsey asked the decree and told district judge Spencer Card he wanted to get the divorce before he is 100 years old.

Kimsey and his wife, Mrs. Clara Kimzey, 70, were married in Pickneyville, Ill., in 1945. They lived together until 1952.

CITY FATHERS RULE

Neighbors Must Ask For New Library Plan

City aldermen at a council meeting Thursday said it was up to the outside municipalities to approach the city if they want to draw up a new agreement for the services of the Victoria Public Library.

Council was requested in a letter from the Victoria Public Library Board to initiate a meeting of municipalities to discuss a new library agreement. Saanich and Oak Bay were dissatisfied with the present library contract, it was pointed out.

The two municipalities now pay for the library service on a book-usage basis. They also contribute towards the cost of the new library addition which was built at their request.

NOT OPPOSED

Saanich and Oak Bay have also asked for voting privileges on the library board. This was not included in the agreement signed in 1951.

While the City Council was not opposed to drafting a new agreement, it felt it was up to the two municipalities to make a formal request for a new contract.

Ald. Brent Murdoch pointed out the present agreement was signed by Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich and former reeve P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay. Both were in favor of the present agreement at the time, he said.

"I feel if the councils are now dissatisfied with the present agreement and want a Greater Victoria Library Board they should approach us," he said. "We are quite ready to discuss the matter."

Ald. Murdoch also pointed out that the contract was not satisfactory for the city. Under the present set-up, he said, Saanich and Oak Bay have no financial responsibilities towards the library and could pull out at any time, leaving the city to foot the bill for the new addition.

"If they want to sign a firm contract," he said, "we can give them voting privileges."

New Group Wants Fuller Life for Disabled People

Victoria League for the Handicapped is a militant body to improve working and living conditions of handicapped persons, president Fred Blakeney told local Optimists Thursday.

Himself confined to a wheelchair, Mr. Blakeney stressed the fact that many handicapped persons can offer valuable service to their community if given the opportunity to work and take part socially.

He asked that employers recognize the continuing ability of some handicapped employables, but he blamed some handicapped persons for not taking jobs when they are capable of work.

The league, established here in May, works closely with provincial rehabilitation co-ordinator C. E. Bradbury and has received useful rehabilitation material from the British ministry of pensions.

West Vancouver Votes Beer Parlors Down

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Introduction of beer parlors in this suburban municipality was decisively rejected by voters in a plebiscite Thursday.

Only one-third of those eligible voted. The figures were 2,307 against and 619 in favor.

Canada's Unique World Stature Measured by Times' Publisher

Canada is rapidly becoming a power in the community of nations, but it hasn't become disliked as a result, Times Publisher Stuart Keate told 200 members, wives and guests at a Canadian Institute of Forestry convention banquet in Empress Hotel Thursday.

Mr. Keate's address, titled "Canada Today," embraced national progress particularly of the last decade and the influence on other countries, due partly to development of natural resources.

He said that the Canadian society was founded on the dignity of the individual and couldn't agree with those who insist that Canada has "the second highest standard of living in the world."

"I think we rate higher," Mr. Keate said.

Mr. Keate said Canada is moving ahead quietly, calmly and without panic, not required to "raise our voice; but when we do speak, we are listened to with respect."

Canadians seem to be willing to pay the necessary $5,000,000 a year for our share in the United Nations," he said. He called the UN "the keystone of our foreign policy."

Continuing Canadian participation in international affairs, including peace tribunals, Colombo plan, NATO and suggestions for German armaments, is evidence of the nation's stature in world affairs. The speaker called them "heavy responsibilities for a country not yet officially 100 years old."

He quoted a diplomat's recent remark that Canada had "achieved the luxury of influence without the penalties of power." The publisher continued: "Our American friends would probably tell us . . . you can't help people without incurring their dislike, or at least their envy.

"Well, Canada at least has this distinction; nobody really seems to hate us."

He thought Canada in the next 50 years would emerge a great international power with anywhere from 35 to 50 million people, but that it would be subject to "all the slings and arrows, the envies and jealousies of older cultures which have known power, "abused it, been unworthy of it, and hence lost it."

Mr. Keate drew attention to the power of ideas which made England great, through which in her finest hour she drew strength from the concepts of freedom and justice.

He hoped Canadians would look toward days when Canada could move among the nations with good-will and generosity, seeking how to contribute to "the comity of nations."

Surveyor general of B.C., G. S. Andrews, introduced the speaker and K. G. Fenson, immediate past-president of the institute proposed the vote of thanks.

Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests for B.C., and H. R. MacMillan were each honored with plaques from the Canadian Forestry Association for their leadership in forest conservation and management.

Awards were made by Hugh Hodgins, Vancouver forest consultant, and Dr. G. S. Allen, dean of UBC faculty of forestry.

DIVORCE COURT CONSIDERS FASHIONS

Filmy Pink Thing Was Only Housecoat Wife Contends; Judge Says Otherwise

LONDON (AP) — A divorce judge drew on his marital experience and decided Thursday that the filmy pink something or other Mrs. Kathleen Grogan wore on a certain night last spring was a nightgown.

Judge Blanco White accordingly granted a divorce on grounds of adultery to Frederick Grogan, who said he found Mrs. Grogan, clad in a what-is-it, entertaining another man in her room.

Mrs. Gorgan insisted the garment was a housecoat.

"Bachelor judges," said Judge White, "are deemed not to have any knowledge of women's underclothes. But perhaps the rule does not apply to one who is married.

"Having looked at it I would describe it as a nightgown.

"If the wife received the co-respondent in this garment he would either have regarded it as an invitation to intimacy, or would have been so alarmed that he would not have sat on the settee with her as he did."

REICHSTAG'S DOME DEFIES DESTRUCTION

BERLIN (AP)—The proud old Reichstag building refused today to bow its battered head.

An effort to send its huge dome crashing to the ground failed as charred and weather-worn steel girders withstood the intense heat of 15 thermite charges.

The charges were intended by engineers to weaken the dome so that it could collapse under its own weight. But the dome remained standing after the white fire of the thermite burned itself out in two minutes.

The demolition had been planned as the final destruction of the 60-year-old parliament building which in its time was set afire by the Nazis, bombed in Allied air raids and shelled by Russian artillery.

West Berlin authorities said another attempt will be made to drop the dome, probably Saturday. They decided to demolish the roof before it killed or injured anyone by collapsing on its own.

Cargo Ship's Crewmen Saved After Sinking

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Coast guardsmen plowed through heavy seas on Lake Michigan Thursday night to rescue, uninjured, all hands of a Dutch cargo ship which sank after colliding with a tug.

The Prins Willem V, a 285-foot motorship of the Oranje Line bound for Canada and Europe, sank in 80 feet of water about three miles off the Milwuakee harbor breakwater about 8.30 p.m. CST. Its crew of 29 was taken aboard coast guard boats and brought ashore.

The 1,567-ton ship, carrying a general cargo, collided with a Sinclair Oil Company tug, which was towing a barge. The tug, apparently little damaged, returned to the harbor under its own power. No one aboard was hurt. The Willem remained afloat for 75 minutes.

Capt. Joseph Lundquist, skipper of the coast guard cutter Hollyhock, said he was told that six men were in the cargo ship's engine room when the crash occurred. All got out safely, he said.

When the Hollyhock arrived, members of the Willem's crew were huddled in pitching lifeboats.

British Railways Earn £4,200,000 For Government

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's state-run transport system last year piled up a surplus of £4,200,000 for its third straight profitable year and kept more passenger trains running on time, the government announced Thursday.

The annual report of the British Transport Commission, which controls the railroads, docks, inland waterways and some road transport, said the surplus compared with profits of £4,258,000 in 1952 and £100,000 in 1951.

In addition, the report claimed British passenger trains were more punctual in every period of 1953 than during 1952.

The latest surplus reduced the commission's accumulated net deficit since it was set up in 1948 to £27,300,000.

POSITIVE ATTITUDE ASKED ON SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian medical profession was urged on Thursday to take a more positive attitude toward socialized medicine and to take the lead in creating a system "which will be to the benefit of medicine and the medical profession and the public at large."

Dr. Norman D. McCreath, senior internist of the Manitoba Clinic, told the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes conference that this would be better than "having a system landing on us from politicians who have not been trained in the profession of medicine."

National Health Plan Gets Local Backing

But Medical Spokesman Fears Quebec Will Block Any Country-Wide Scheme

Should health insurance be available to all Canadians?

A doctor, a businessman and a trade unionist each answered with a strong "Yes" during a panel discussion at the YWCA Thursday night. But only the labor representative, J. F. Belton of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, felt the need could best be met with a national health scheme.

Dr. Gordon H. Grant quoted a Canadian Medical Association statement which urged health insurance on a provincial basis. he indicated that lack of co-operation in Quebec might hinder any federal scheme.

Introduced as a representative of the Chamber of Commerce, Oak Bay reeve Fred Norris said he was speaking only for himself in his contention that privately operated health insurance firms are doing an adequate job.

More than half of the audience of 30 entered the discussion as well. Several persons rebuked Dr. Grant for his criticism of the national health scheme at present operated in Great Britain.

First to speak was Reeve Norris. He said that across Canada almost everyone is covered under one or another health insurance plan. He enumerated these as employees' groups, loan companies who will loan money when it is needed for rehabilitation of medical expenses, Workmen's Compensation Board, TB and VD protection groups, well-baby clinics and groups such as MSA.

"Health insurance is not a federal responsibility except in the event of a national disaster," he said.

He admitted that under present schemes it is difficult for older people to get coverage, but reasoned, "Automobile damage costs, cigarette and liquor costs far exceed the national medcial cost."

Why not a national protection plan against these greater expenses, he asked?

Private Coverage 'Patchwork'

Mr. Belton maintained that under the present private company system, "out of 14,000,000 people only a third is covered. Less than 12½ per cent has medical coverage."

He charged that private companies result in patchwork coverage, "waiting periods" when dues are paid but no coverage exists, limited treatment only is available and drugs and X-rays are not generally paid for. He said also that administration costs run as high as 9.8 per cent.

He pointed to the United Kingdom universal plan where "opposition has decreased and the Tory government has made no move to take away the system birthed by the Labor government." He added that the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress has long supported a federal health scheme.

Dr. Grant said the CMA has twice urged a country-wide scheme, in 1943 and in 1949, but on a provincial system with federal co-ordination and outlining of standards. He pointed out that in 1943 CMA had urged obligatory membership by all citizens, but in 1949 suggested participation be voluntary.

"It is strongly recommended that the plan come under a non-political independent commission . . . the patient of little or no income should be included . . . medical education must be maintained at a high standard . . . health insurance is primarily a provincial matter."

He explained that Canada is too vast and has too many social and economic customs for any one plan to meet all needs.

"As one minor example of this I might recall to you that Quebec has taken no part and proposes to take no part in the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway."

The doctor said that MSA was as close to the ideal arrangement as would likely be evolved. He stated that Medical Services Incorporated, an outgrowth of MSA, eventually would give coverage to the individual. It aims at providing medical care at least free of cost to members while they are in hospital.

He described Trans-Canada Medical Plans as a federation of medical schemes which will co-ordinate private companies so that a person moving here from the east would not be without coverage during the switch-over period.

BCHIS he held up as an example of a widespread operation being too quickly formed. "Just about everything went wrong at first." He said as a result there are many in hospital who ought not to be and he mentioned chronics, nursing home cases and cases for diagnosis.

"Patient-days are rising," he warned. "It now costs $35,000,000 in B.C. for a limited coverage."

More Get Care, But Quality Down

In Britain, according to Dr. Grant," many people are getting medical care of a sort who formerly got very little." But he said the quality of that care was diminishing.

So many people are converging on the doctors that each patient can only be granted from three to five minutes. He warned that this could be worse than no time at all if the doctor failed to make an accurate diagnosis because of the haste.

A man in the audience who said he worked in a British hospital recently, took issue with the doctor on that point. He said that a suspicion of serious illness meant the patient went to hospital for tests and surgery if needed, "just the same as here."

The doctor said also that in Britain there was one clerk in the health scheme bureacracy for every doctor and that he thought general health is better in England since the war, the change being attributed to improved diet.

An unidentified woman questioner told Dr. Grant that he was being too harsh on the British doctors. She said that as a reader of the London Medical Journal, she was informed that there was a surplus of medical men in the UK now.

Dr. Grant summed up with the observation that " . . . whatever plan we evolve must be available to all Canadians regardless of means. It must be fair to those who receive care and to those who give it and it must maintain an adequate system of medical education."

FRANCE FIRES JEAN MONS

PARIS (Reuters) — President Rene Coty announced today that Jean Mons, secretary-general of French national defence, has been fired following scandalous disclosures that top French military secrets have leaked to the Communists.

Mons was suspended from his post earlier after two of his chief aides were charged with treason.

Indo-China Outlook Seen Deteriorating

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report by a member of the Senate foreign relations committee Thursday said the situation in Indo-China has seriously deteriorated and in South Viet Nam there is danger it "could give way to complete internal chaos."

The report, made by Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem., Mont.) to the full committee, urged immediate suspension of U.S. aid "preliminary to a complete reappraisal of our present policies" if the tottering South Viet Nam government should fall.

Mansfield, who returned last week from a two-month study mission to Indo-China, also recommended that the Senate study losses of U.S. military equipment and other aid in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. He said expenditures there since 1950 have exceeded $2,600,000,000.

He said according to best available estimates "some 25 per cent of American economic aid went into areas which are now held by the Communists, an unwitting gift . . ."

Woman Pleads Innocent Of Husband's Poisoning

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Mary Bell, 48, sobbingly pleaded not guilty Thursday as she went on trial on a charge of murder in connection with the poison death of her 57-year-old husband, Percy, last January 2.

The trial started after a grand jury which deliberated two days returned a true bill, requiring Mrs. Bell to stand trial.

As the petit jury was chosen, Herbert Carter, a coal and wood dealer who had been picked as a juror, refused to take an oath. He said his conscience was disturbed over the question of capital punishment.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer told him:

"I could fine you for contempt but I am discharging you. You enjoy the protection of our laws and you refuse to uphold them and do your duty as a citizen and to give a verdict based on evidence. There is no favor in your refusal."

The jurors finally chosen were all men. Three women were called from the panel from which the jury was picked but all were rejected by the defense.

Wismer Case Again Before Supreme Court

Maclean's Writer Blair Fraser Still Fights Order to Divulge Sources of Information

OTTAWA (CP)—A case which could have wide ramifications in the newspaper and magazine reporting field comes before the Supreme Court of Canada Monday for the second time.

Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, is seeking leave to appeal a decision of British Columbia courts which strikes out his defense in a libel suit between himself and the magazine.

The 2½-year case's crucial point has been Mr. Fraser's refusal to divulge the names of his informants for an article published in Maclean's Feb. 15, 1952, and entitled "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide."

As matters now stand, Mr. Fraser is deprived of his right of defense when and if the case comes before a jury. In this regard at least, the case is believed without precedent in Canada.

Although no idential case has come before the Canadian courts, British judges have ruled on several occasions that reporters or newspapers do not have to disclose their sources of information.

BROUGHT LIBEL ACTION

Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C., brought a libel action for unstated damages against Mr. Fraser and Maclean's following publication of the article dealing with the collapse of the Liberal-Progressive Conservation Coalition Government of B.C.

Mr. Wismer's counsel obtained from the B.C. courts an order that Mr. Fraser be questioned in advance of trial—the legal term is examination for discovery.

On the advice of his counsel, Mr. Fraser declined to answer 36 of the 433 questions put by Mr. Wismer's counsel at the examination. The 36 questions were designed chiefly to obtain from Mr. Fraser the names of his informants for the article. The journalist identified some only as members of the B.C. Liberal party.

Mr. Wismer's counsel then obtained an order from Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker in the B.C. Supreme Court directing the writer to answer the questions concerning his sources.

On a split decision, the B.C. Appeal Court upheld Mr. Justice Whittaker's order, and counsel for Mr. Fraser applied for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. The Supreme Court last March refused permission for appeal without giving reasons.

REFUSES AGAIN

Mr. Fraser was again questioned at another pre-trial examination and again refused to divulge his sources of information.

Counsel for Mr. Wismer then obtained from Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane of the B.C. Supreme Court an order striking out Mr. Fraser's entire defense on the grounds that he had refused to answer the questions concerning his sources. This order was upheld unanimously by the B.C. Appeal Court.

Counsel for Mr. Fraser Monday will ask the Supreme Court of Canada for special leave to appeal the decision of Mr. Justice Macfarlane and the B.C. Appeal Court.

In the summary of the points of argument to be made before the Supreme Court by Mr. Fraser's counsel, it is stated, in part:

"The issues in this appeal involve important questions of law affecting freedom of the press in Canada, the freedom of speech . . . enjoyed by members of the public in Canada, and the question of whether a newspaper reporter of national repute may consider as privileged confidential communications made to him on matters of public interest or whether source of such communications must be disclosed in a libel action under the penalty of being deprived of all right of defense."

Local Man Cleared in Road Scandal

The federal works department inspector here was freed by a grand jury in Port Arthur, Ontario, yesterday, following charges of conspiring to defraud the Ontario government in connection with road-building contracts.

R. F. Petersson, 316 Moss Street, was federal works department inspector in the Port Arthur area at the time of incidents leading up to other such charges, but has now been completely cleared of any responsibility for or complicity in road frauds.

The jury returned true bills requiring Tomlinson Bros. Ltd., Tomlinson Bros. Eastern Ltd., C. W. Taylor and Arthur M. Mills to stand trial on a fraud charged laid under the Criminal Code.

Taylor is superintendent of the Tomlinson firms and Mills is a former Ontario highways department division engineer at Fort William, Ontario.

10,000 Montana Miners End 53-Day Strike

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) today was to sign a new two-year contract with Anaconda Copper Co., ending a strike which began 53 days ago.

An estimated 10,000 Montana workers, made idle by the strike over contract terms in Great Falls, Anaconda and Butte, are expected to return to work Saturday.

Some 5,000 Mine-Mill members voted to accept the agreement. The final vote was 4,378 for and 800 against. The package settlement calls for "between 8½ and 9½ cents per hour."

The contract also includes a new pension plan, change in the hospital and medical plan and a wage increase of two cents an hour across the board. The union had asked a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase plus fringe benefits.

Wage scales in the west are $14.71-$15.55 a day for miners and $12.76-$13.85 for laborers.

B.C. Soldiers Offer Aid to Korean Waifs

OTTAWA (CP)—Almost 200 hungry Korean children are going to be fed from money contributed by soldiers at a British Columbia army camp.

The Unitarian Service Committee today said troops at the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineers at Vedder Crossing, B.C., contributed $186.46 to the committee's $50,000 campaign "Operation Codfish." One dollar feeds a Korean child for two months with Canadian codfish.

ADMITS STRANGLING—Mrs. Shirley Flodstrom, shown entering San Jose, Calif., jail calmly told police how she stuffed a pajama sleeve down the throat of her six-month-old son, David, and watched him die. Poster May Win New York Trip For City Girl

A 16-year-old Mount Douglas High School student, Mary Ethel Leggett, 1550 McRae, has won the local section of the Moose Safety Poster Contest.

The competition, held each year in connection with Moose International Youth Honor Day, was judged by Mrs. W. E. Emmerton, 1024 Munro; Canon F. Pike, 3821 Cedar Hill Cross Road, and Sgt. Brooke Douglass, 1317 Point Street.

Miss Leggett's poster has been sent to Moose's international competition at Mooseheart, Illinois, where it will compete with entries from all over North America. Four winners will be selected there, each receiving all-expense trips to New York or Chicago to appear on radio and television programs.

A-G, Magistrate Discussing Plan To Fine Parents

City council was informed Thursday that City Police Court Magistrate H. C. Hall is "in communication" with Attorney-General Robert Bonner with regard to the controversy over the punishment of parents of juvenile delinquents.

The new development in the "judicial case" was disclosed by Ald. William Pinfold.

In view of the magistrate's action, council decided to postpone again discussion on Ald. Frank Mulliner's motion of August 12 asking for the resignation of Magistrate Hall.

Ald. Mulliner in his motion claimed the magistrate was not making use of his powers under the Criminal Code to punish the parents of children who commit crimes. He also said the magistrate was too lenient in his dealings with young offenders.

But the magistrate replied last month that parents had to be properly charged before he could sentence them to a fine for offences their children committed. And he suggested it was up to city prosecutor Alan Bigelow to lay the charges against the parents.

The magistrate explained that he could not personally lay a charge against a parent and act as judge as well. That would be assuming the role of a prosecutor and judge at the same time, which was contrary to normal court procedure, he pointed out.

Gangster Presence In Racing Probed

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois' racing chairman said Thursday investigators have found "some indication of gangster presence" in horse racing in the state.

Paul Serdar, chairman of the board which supervises track operations throughout the state, said his agency has been investigating the situation "all year."

The three-man board will meet soon to "go into the situation thoroughly," he added.

Serdar made the comment in connection with a Chicago Daily News story, saying "the Capone mob has invaded" horse racing in Illinois.

Mobsters own thoroughbred horses, run them under the names of "stooges" and own stock in race tracks, the story adds.

UMBRELLA . . . OR PARACHUTE?

GENOA, Italy (AP)—Dr. Charles S. Houston, American mountain climber who twice failed to conquer the world's second highest mountain, 27,250-foot Mt. Godwin Austen, Wednesday night got back an umbrella he lost on the peak.

Lino Lacedelli, one of two Italians who conquered the Himalayan summit last July, returned the umbrella during ceremonies here honoring the Italian expedition. Lacedelli said he found it high on a Himalayan glacier.

5,000-Mile Venezuela Tow Awarded to Island Tug Co.

Island Tug & Barge Co.'s deep-sea tug Sudbury left Seattle Thursday night on the first leg of a 5,000-mile tow to Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela.

She is towing a 250-foot, self-contained suction dredge, which will be used by a Chicago company with a dredging contract in the lake.

The tow is expected to take about 35 days. The dredge, now known as Puerto Cabello, is the former U.S. Army dredge Sandman. She carries an 11-man crew.

MCC GETS GOOD START IN AUSTRALIA OPENER

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Accurate bowling by Brian Statham followed by Len Hutton's polished batting gave England's Marylebone Cricket Club a great start to its opening state game against Western Australia today.

Western Australia was out for 103 in three hours after half the side had fallen for only 38. In reply, the British touring team had scored 102 for the loss of two first-innings wickets when stumps were drawn.

Statham, 24-year-old Lancashire fast bowler, turned in the best performance of his career in taking six wickets for 23 runs in 10 overs, four of which were maidens.

Hutton, composed and serene, batted splendidly when MCC began its innings. He was one short of his half-century at the close.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

"What," asks a hockey fan, in respect to the recent protest of Victoria Cougars against Vancouver's use of Billy Dea in the opening game of the Western Hockey League season, "is a protected list?"

"And furthermore," he adds, "what is the 'negotiation list'?"

The answer to the first question is quite clear, just as it is quite clear from this corner that WHL president Al Leader really "blew one," in disallowing the Cougar protest (as has been suggested here earlier).

Walker

Under the "protected list" adopted by the NHL this year, each NHL club can only "protect" 18 players plus two goalkeepers. All other players controlled or owned by the NHL club become subject to draft by other NHL clubs for the nominal sum of $15,000.

"Protected" players not retained in the NHL also become available to other NHL clubs at the waiver price of $15,000 before they can be loaned or sent to a club in another league.

Regarding the Cougar protest, Bill Dea was on the Rangers' "protected" list, and was sent to the Canucks, and played for the Canucks, before waivers had been asked on him by the Rangers. Mid Houghton of the Canucks was in the same category.

Any suggestion that Frank Boucher of the Rangers, or Muzz Patrick of the Rangers, or Coley Hall of the Canucks or Art Chapman of the Canucks didn't "knowingly" know that Dea was ineligible to play for the Canucks is pure hog wash.

The rule is specific. And Boucher, who accepted blame for the incident, shouldn't be excused, nor should the Canucks, just because he pleaded "guilty," which in essence is what Boucher did by accepting the responsibility. And by the same token so did Art Chapman of the Canucks by pleading ignorance.

The "Negotiation List" is something else again.

This is an arrangement whereby clubs have the power to stake claims to any promising amateur who happens to catch their fancy.

Under this scheme, which has its numerical limitations, any player (male we presume) who shows talent or potential talent at pursuing a rubber disc with a forked stick, become the exclusive property, for contractual negotiation purposes, of the first club that files notice of its intentions with league headquarters.

The boy need not be consulted, and once his name has been filed at NHL headquarters he is unable to talk turkey with any other club but the one that filed the right to prevent him from dickering on the open market.

It is true that the clubs do pay bonuses to some of these players, but if the player doesn't accept the terms offered, he doesn't play pro hockey unless some other club is interested enough to assume these negotiation privileges in return for compensation of a like nature.

We trust, sir, that in brief, we have answered your query.

But in doing so, we reiterate that we cannot condone Mr. Leader for his action, despite his sincerity of purpose.

In that regard, it is more than likely that the WHL governors will be asked to rule on an appeal of the case.

Three-Man Board To Run City Hoop

Basketball in Victoria this season will be directed by a three-man commission, elected Thursday night at a special meeting.

The men selected to handle the job are Joe Bryant, Earl Ward and former basketball chairman Russ Atkinson.

The three-man commission will be aided by representatives selected by the 21 teams which have filed entry in various leagues for the season. The entry list represents a rise of six teams over last season.

Games this season will be played in the new Central Junior High School gym, starting in the first week of November.

Max Bentley Seeks Mere $20,000

TORONTO (CP) — Centre Max Bentley has asked the equivalent of $16,000 plus about $4,000 in bonuses to play for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, Leafs announced Thursday night.

Conn Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, Ltd., and former manager of the Leafs, said Bentley also wants a guarantee that he will be released next spring. Bentley, 34-year-old native of Delisle, Sask., was offered a contract for an amount far below his latest demands but turned it down, Smythe said.

The Leafs have asked the NHL to suspend Bentley for refusing to join the club. He played with New York Rangers on a loan basis last season but is still Toronto property.

However, Smythe said he offered to give Bentley his release for $7,500. He didn't say Bentley turned it down or was thinking it over. Maxie apparently would like to join his brother, Doug, with Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League.

Newcastle Buys Soccer Star

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—Newcastle United, English First Division soccer club, plunged into the big-money transfer today and signed centre-half Bill Paterson from Doncaster Rovers for £25,000.

Paterson turns out for his new club against Tottenham Hotspur on Saturday.

This signing ended Newcastle's search for a top centre is a record one for Doncaster and a triumph for the talent-scouting system of manager Peter Doherty. Doherty spotted Paterson five years ago in army soccer. He signed the six-footer for the official £10 signing-on fee. Paterson is 24 years old

Vancouver Ready for PCL, But City Must Make Move

VANCOUVER (CP)—A franchise owner in the Pacific Coast baseball league said Thursday he felt Vancouver was ready to support PCL ball, but the first move for entry into the open-class league is up to the city.

Brick Laws, president of the Oakland Acorns of the PCL, said he was very much impressed with the city, and said he felt Vancouver was "ready" to support a PCL team. The league ranks between the majors—American and National—and the Triple A in importance.

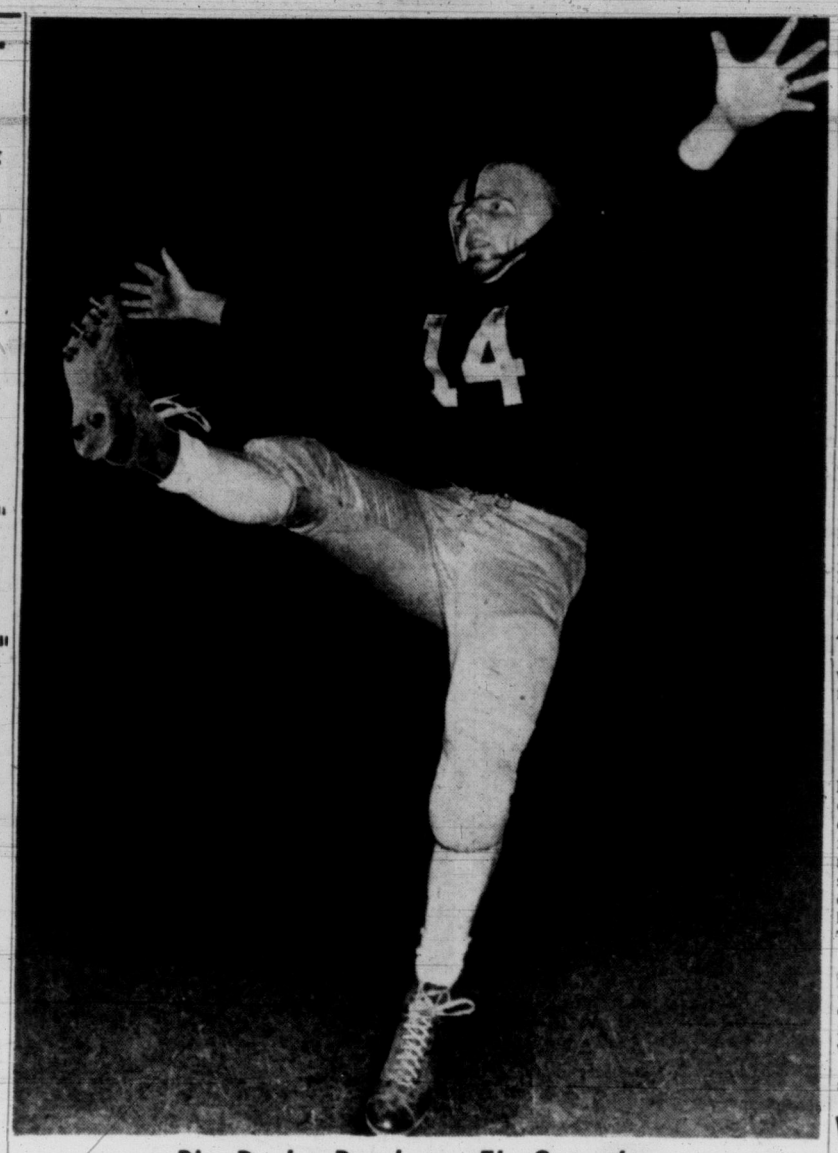
Laws was in town with Emil Sick, president of the Seattle Rainiers of the PCL and Rainier manager Dewey Soriano.

It was rumored prior to Laws' arrival that he wished to bring his PCL franchise to Vancouver, and get out from under the Oakland team, said to be weak financially.

Laws, however, said this was a case of "putting the cart before the horse," and emphasized that Vancouver would have to gain favor with the league directors before admittance would be allowed.

Laws said he was very much impressed with Vancouver, because it seems "alive . . . vital. And I've heard about your support for your football team. I've no hesitation in giving your city a big build-up."

He said also he thought Vancouver could draw 400,000 people in the first year of play if they were accepted into the league, approximately 100,000 more than the top team last year.



Big Drake Ready to Fly Saturday

Nothing but prestige will be at stake Saturday when Oak Bay Drakes and Navy tangle in the final game of the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League schedule at Macdonald Park at 2. However, winless Navy will be fighting for their first victory of the season and Drakes will be priming for playoffs, which start in a week. Returning to the Drakes backfield will be husky fullback Ken Higgs, who missed last week's game when Drakes bowed to league-winning Mayo Vampires. Drakes' top scorer, Higgs will take care of the plunging and kicking. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

City Footballers Get Real Test Saturday

Victoria City, the runningest team in the Coast Soccer League, will meet Vancouver City, the thinkingest club, at Athletic Park Saturday at 2.30.

The unpredictable Victoria Club, probably the youngest squad in the history of the CSL, will be out to protect their one-point second-place lead and gain two points on Firefighters, who lead Victoria by three points.

Vancouver City is a point behind Victoria with two wins in five starts.

However, it is believed the Vancouver club may become the class of the league as the season moves on due to their depth and experience.

Coached by Jackie Cowan, former Scottish League star, Vancouver has a solid defensive unt and a smart hard-shooting forward wall.

Ray Dixon is in goal with Cowan and Norm Guistini at fullback and Pat Philley centring Bill Moffatt and George Bogdanivich on the half-line.

Up front, smart Brian Philley pivots insides Denny Rogers and Bruce Ashdown and wingers John Clifford and Cliff Wells.

Victoria City will counter with their line-up that averages around 23 years of age.

It will be rangy Pete Winter in goal, fronted by backs Bill Hope and Bill Bamford. Dave Wakelyn and Harold Holroyd flank centre-half John Pickburn. Click Clarke and Cedric Robb, a pair of hustling speed merchants, will be at the wings with George Wright and Ed Crabbe at inside posts and Harry Carruthers at centre-forward.

Spares will be Timmy Walker, Dick McLaren, Bill McMillan, Don Glass, Whitey Turner and Bert Ingram.

WILLIE GETS FIVE

SAN BRUNO, Cal.—America's leading jockey, Willie Shoemaker, went on a scoring spree at Tanforan race track Thursday, batting home the winners in the first five races of the eight-race program. He also rode the place horse in the sixth.

The splurge boosted his total of winning mounts for the season to 324.

But that was the end of the road and Willie ran a poor sixth aboard favored Eddie's Boy in the day's feature race.

The feature was won by Connie Ring's Mr. Hemisphere with George Taniguchi up. Heliowise was second and Sahib third.

Leger's Club Drubs Royals

A near-capacity crowd of 5,000 saw the hometown Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, coached by Roger Leger, turn back the Montreal Royals 3-1 in one of two Quebec Hockey League games Thursday night, while the Chicoutimi Saugeneens, also at home, trimmed the Valleyfield Braves 7-1.

Dick Wray rammed in the winning goal at 13.43 of the final stanza and Connie Broden added one as insurance at 14.15.

At Chicoutimi the Sagueneens fired five goals without an answer into the Valleyfield nets in the second period after setting the pace with two goals to one in the opener. There was no third-period scoring.

Jimmy Moore, veteran Chicoutimi centre, damaged a leg when he collided with Kitoute Joanette in the third period and club officials said he may be out of action for several weeks.

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Determine, the Kentucky Derby winner, has popped a splint while training in California, and won't be able to race in Laurel's International on Nov. 3.

Dockers, Bays Score

Goals proved to be rare items Thursday in the opening game of the Inter-High School Junior Soccer League.

With all four teams seeing action on opening day, only three goals were scored as Esquimalt and Oak Bay racked up shutout victories.

Tom Fitzsimmons was the only goal-scorer at Windsor Park, scoring to give Oak Bay a 1-0 victory over Vic High as Ken Street blocked every shot Vics sent at him.

Esquimalt scored once in each half to hand Mount View a 2-0 drubbing at Mount View.

Rowing Club Ruggers To Meet Oak Bay Here

Tiny Georgie Puil, who made gridiron and rugby history while at the University of British Columbia, will be just one in a host of rugby stars in the line-up of Vancouver Rowing Club, which meets Oak Bay Wanderers here Saturday.

The talent-loaded Rowing Club side will take on Dick Ellis' Oak Bay Wanderers at Windsor Park at 2.30 in an inter-city match.

Puil recently returned from the Old Country where he had a trial match with Ireland last year. The speedy, bantam-size backfielder also played with London Irish for a season. He was offered a contract with B.C. Lions football team but turned it down.

Another back-fielder whose name is well known here is big Gerry Main. A product of Oak Bay High School and Victoria College, Main was a member of the Wanderers' club while in Victoria and will be meeting some of his former team-mates.

Undefeated this year, Rowing Club are big and fast and boast four players who have seen service with top-notch New Zealand teams.

The game will probably be the toughest of the season for Wanderers, who have been beaten by Vindex and Meralomas of Vancouver in their only two games.

In Vancouver, meanwhile, Alex Macdonald's James Bay team will take on Vindex, hoping for their first victory of the season.

Nobody Too Sure Of A's Position

Efforts Still Being Made To Keep Club in Philly

By JOHN GAUDIOUI, United Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Roy Mack, fighting to the bitter end, was in contact with big-money men today in an effort to raise $1,500,000 and prevent shift of the Philadelphia Athletics' franchise to Kansas City.

The 65-year-old Athletics' executive vice-president worked against a deadline of 11 a.m. (EST) next Monday in his desperate bid to save the As, an institution here for 54 years. American League president Will Harridge said Mack had been given until then "for final decision on selling his stock" to Arnold Johnson, Chicago realtor.

The financially-fixed men with whom Mack was huddling were not disclosed but a Philadelphia syndacte was said to be in on the negotiations.

C. Leo de Orsey, Washington tax lawyer, said he had been in touch with Mack about "unfinished business between Roy and me about keeping the club in Philadelphia." De Orsey and Joseph Tucci, a retired plumbing contractor, had offered $2,865,000 for the club. Charles O. Finley, Chicago insurance broker, also was on the scene for talks with Mack.

Conflicting Statements Confusing

As Mack sought to raise at least $1,500,000 for working capital and to buy out the stock of his brother, Earle, and his father, Connie, conflicting statements flew among club owners so thick and fast it is not quite clear what happened at the league meeting in Chicago last Tuesday.

Roy Mack said he had not sold his stock and that when he left the session he told the owners, "I am in a closely-knit family and I want to talk it over with them."

"I am still struggling," Roy said.

Harridge cited minutes of the meeting to show that Roy requested the league to authorize sale of the Philadelphia club stock to Johnson and also requested approval for transfer of the franchise to Kansas City.

Harridge, at the same time, declined to comment on statements by Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League and for a time in the running to buy the A's. Richardson, a member of the Athletics board of directors, said the league "high-pressured" Roy into an agreement.

Who Voted and for What?

Calvin Grifith, executive vice-president of the Washington Senators, and Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, president of the Detroit Tigers, criticized Harridge's original announcement that the votes to shift the franchise and approve the new owners were a unanimous 7-0.

After a look at the minutes, Harridge said the vote was 6-0, with Philadelphia and Detroit absent.

Griffith said both Washington and Boston stipulated their preference would be to keep the A's in Philadelpiha for another year, to move the franchise to Los Angeles, or to move it to Kansas City, in that order.

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox and a brother-in-law of Griffith, denied that his vote to move the Athletics to Kansas City was "conditional."

Griffith also said that "Detroit's vote never was counted." Briggs said he had left the meeting early and gave his proxy to Chuck Comiskey, Chicago White Sox vice-president, with instructions to vote against the transfer.

"I learned later that Comiskey did not vote the proxy in a lost cause," Briggs said.

Smith Named Phil Pilot

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league managerial merry-go-round is spinning at the fastest clip in history with a chance that two more baseball bosses may be outsted in the near future.

Since the 1953 world series, 10 of the 16 clubs have changed managers, two of them twice.

The latest switch came suddenly in Philadelphia Thursday where the Phillies named Mayo Smith, a greying stranger from the New York Yankees minor league farm system, to replace Terry Moore. Moore had been around only since July 15 when he took over from Steve O'Neill.

Cincinnati started the dizzy whirl a year ago in September by picking Birdie Tebbetts to succeed Rogers Hornsby. Then came Eddie Joost for Jimmy Dykeu on the Philadelphia Athletics, Dykes for Marty Marion at Baltimore and Walt Alston for Charlie Dressen at Brooklyn.

Action lulled until late March when the Chicago Cubs replaced Phil Cavarretta with Stan Hack. O'Neill was fired in mid-July. Baltimore lured Paul Richards away from the Chicago White Sox in mid-September and Marion replaced him. As the season ended Washington fired Bucky Harris and brought Dressen back to the majors.

Harris was jobless only a week before being hired to replace Freddie Hutchinson at Detroit. Then the Boston Red Sox switched from Lou Boudreau to Pinky Higgins.

Lynn's Youngsters Trim Murray's Kids

Boston 5, New York 3

(By The Canadian Press)

Coach Lynn Patrick of the Boston Bruins may have found the proper balance of youth and experience he has been looking for for the last couple of seasons.

Thursday night, Patrick struck together a makeshift line of youngsters Don McKenney and Leo Labine and veteran centre Fleming Mackell and watched as the trio accounted for four of Boston's goals in a 5-3 victory over brother Murray's New York Rangers.

McKenney, a 21-year-old rookie up from Hershey of the American League, pumped in a pair of goals, including the winner. Labine, 23, matched McKenney's performance with two goals of his own and Mackell, in his seventh year of pro hockey at 25, picked up three assists.

Labine's goals were his third and fourth of the year and gave him the lead in that department in the NHLs individual scoring race Veteran Val Gardner scored the fifth Boston goal.

RANGER SCORERS

Youngsters also accounted for all the New York goals. Ron Murphy, 21, picked up two and little Camille Henry, also 21 the other.

The Canadiens, one point behind league-leading Detroit, get a chance to take over first place tonight in a game against the Black Hawks at Chicago.

On The

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

Here we go back in the whipping-a-dead-horse department.

The duck (and pheasant) season opens Saturday and that fact conjures up more than the thought of a couple of plump ducks in a broiler.

No, it brings back the memory of a meeting in Sooke not too long ago when residents of the Billings Spit area in the Sooke Basin and a few hunters hollered imprecations at each other while representatives from the Game Office and the Victoria Fish and Game Association refereed.

It's history now that hunters came close to being outlawed in Billings Spit because a few of them grew careless and inconsiderate on private property. However, a judgment by the B.C. Game Commission allowed the hunters to continue their pleasure under policing.

Boyd

But it is a lead pipe cinch that if there is any further trouble this year, there will be no hearings, no investigations and no compromises. The hunters will get the boot. Pronto.

Again, the area will be policed. The Game Office will have officers on hand whenever possible and hunters themselves have been asked to keep an eye on their fellow nimrods.

There should be no reason for anyone claiming ignorance on the Billings Spit issue. Signs have been posted in the area this week and their message is graphic and conclusive. The signs advise hunters: "Warning. Hunters are requested to exercise every precaution in the discharge of fire-arms in this area. Refrain from shooting near or toward any house or other structure. Respect private property. Co-operate or otherwise this hunting area may be lost to you."

Let that be warning enough.

* * *

The Frank Partridge referred to recently as winning second prize in the Cowichan Bay Coho Derby should have read Fred Partridge. Humblest apologies and heartiest congratulations, Fred old man.

* * *

A report from Cowichan River indicates that salmon are moving up the river from the bay, heading for the spawning grounds. In a short while, this should supply some wonderful sport for the spin fishermen in the upper reaches of the river.

Trout, maddened by the smell of salmon eggs, become suckers for red flies, fished wet, beaded spinners or the small hooks fitted with a single bead. The trout can be taken by a wading angler who quarters his cast up-stream and allows his lure to bump on the bottom down-stream. If a fly is used, a red-bodied creation with a white hackle, particularly in the larger patterns, is recommended. It can be fished with a small pinch-on weight 18-24 inches above the fly.

The great thing about this type of angling is one never knows when he will tie into a steel-head or a coho or spring. Several coho have already been taken on light trout tackle.

* * *

Saanich Inlet, particularly on the Bamberton side from McCurdy's Point up to the Mill Bay spar, was literally alive with fish yesterday.

Bait fish frothed the water, clouds of gulls and a huge school of dog-fish feasted on the bait and grilse and coho slashed through the bait. One party of three anglers took 30 grilse, two coho, 11 and seven pounds, gaffed three dog-fish and hooked one near-sighted sea-gull. Buck-tail flies, green and white and blue and white, and abalones seemed the best killers.

WIFU SCHEDULE CRUCIAL

Stamps Need Double Win

(By The Canadian Press)

Larry Siemering's simmering Calgary Stampeders, poised for a full-steam-ahead spurt aimed at a playoff berth, could set the Western Interprovincial Football Union standings topsy-turvy this week-end.

The Stamps travel east to take on the loop's present top two, Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina Saturday and Blue Bombers in Winnipeg Monday. Their 42-6 squashing of British Columbia Lions Monday was a return to the early-season scoring power which white-washed Riders 34-0 and Bombers 41-0 in successive games.

If the Cowboys pull off the double they will sit astride the top spot, ahead of Saskatchewan on goal average. And Edmonton Eskimos, with a brace of week-end games against the luckless Lions, would likely make it a triple tie for first place. All would have 18 points with Winnipeg's tally 16. Eskimos are home Saturday and at Vancouver Monday.

The following week-end winds up the regular league schedule Calgary has no more games. The others have two each, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg both go against British Columbia and Edmonton.

Siemering put his Stamps through a lengthy drill Thursday night in preparation for the do-or-die effort. The squad is in near-top shape.

Minor Soccer

Two changes have been announced in Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association games for this week-end. The second division Army, Navy and Air Force Eagles' match will commence at 1 at Vic West Park and not 2 as previously announced. The Division One game between Belmont and Eagles, originally scheduled for John Stubbs Park, has been switched to Vic West Park with a starting time of 2.30.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio—L. C. Morgan, 138, Youngstown, stopped Elmer Lakatos, 137, Youngstown (8).

All-American Grid Nominees Clash Head On

NEW YORK (AP)—The line-splitting rushes of Alan Ameche will be matched with the deadly pitching arm of Lenny Dawson Saturday when Wisconsin and Purdue clash at Lafayette, Ind., in the battle of second and fifth ranked United States football powers.

The game between the two unbeaten big 10 teams, Purdue was tied by Duke last week, features a pressurized schedule which will have the attention of bowl and all-America selectors.

Behind Ameche's powerful running, Wisconsin has swept through its first three games without a defeat. Dawson pitched Purdue to victory over Missouri and Notre Dame before being shackled last week in a 13-13 tie with Duke.

Duke, also unbeaten, will have its own hands full at Durham, N.C., where it meets a swift-hitting Army team which has scored one-sided victories over Michigan and Dartmouth.

Major game on the Pacific coast is between Southern California and Oregon.

Holding prime regional interest are such games as West Virginia at Penn State, pitting two unbeaten 11s of the east; Michigan State at Notre Dame, Alabama at Tennessee and Arkansas at Texas.

Oklahoma, which rocketed into the No. 1 position in the Associated Press poll on convincing victories over California, Texas Christian and Texas, plays Kansas and rules a three-touchdown favorite.

KURT LOSES BUT CROWN STAYS PUT

Kurt von Poppenheim's three-year undefeated record came crashing down over his military hair-cut at Victoria Ballroom Thursday night.

The Prussian grappler, holder of the junior light-heavyweight title, was defeated by Gino Angelo, two falls out of three, in the main event of the weekly wrestling card.

However, von Poppenheim retains his title as he refused to put it on the block when Angelo was found to be over the 205-pound weight limit prior to the fight.

Jack Kaiser, an old favorite here, fought to a draw with Doran O'Hara in the semi-main and Frank Faketty defeated Keith Hollett in the opener.

Trabert Trims Llamas In U.S. Tennis Sweep

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Tony Trabert, second-seeded player from Cincinnati, Thursday won the men's singles championship of the Pan-American tennis tournament with a 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 victory over 22-year-old Mexican champion Mario Llamas.

Llamas, the upset player of the tournament with a victory over U.S. champion Vic Seixas en route to the finals, was no match for the experienced Trabert after he had won the first set. He was the first Mexican to reach the finals in the 13-year history of the tournament.

Trabert also teamed with Seixas in winning the men's doubles. They defeated Sweden's Davis Cup combination of Sven Davidson and Lennart Bergelin, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Did Logan Miss in '52? Grid Ace Not Certain

MONTREAL (CP)—The Herald says today that Tip Logan, Hamilton's accurate placement kicker, missed a convert in a game against Montreal Oct. 18, 1952, and his consecutive-convert total now stands at 79—not 104 as has been claimed.

The story says movies of the game show Logan missing a convert late in a game between Montreal and the Tiger-Cats at Hamilton. The ball was deflected by Glen Douglas, Alouettes defensive right end, and it dropped short and to one side of the goal posts.

The Herald says Frank Bliss, past president of the Hamilton team, replied to a telegram earlier this week that Logan last missed a convert Sept. 19, 1952. The story says there was no game on that date but records show Logan missing a convert Sept. 13 in another game at Montreal.

The story says Logan has missed 14 converts with the Tiger-Cats prior to starting his consecutive string Oct. 26, 1952—12 in 1951 and two in 1952.

The Herald says movies of the Oct. 18 game were re-run several times.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

"There wasn't any doubt about it. Tip's shot at the cross-bar didn't make it."

The story says Hamilton won the Oct. 18 game 21-1.

The Herald also prepared a chart showing Logan's converts in league, playoff and Grey Cup action since then. It said the converts add up to 79 in a row.

In a telephone interview Logan told The Canadian Press: "I don't think I should say anything now. I think we should wait until I see the movies of the game in question. I don't know. I can't remember."

Coach Carl Voyles of the Tiger-Cats said: "I can't recall seeing Logan miss an extra point. I'm going to try to get the films of the game. I want to get to the bottom of this. I think we should get it cleared up before it goes any further."

The Herald says that "since coming into the Big Four in August of 1951, the boy from Fort Erie, Ont., has missed 14 converts. In Hamilton, they insist that he's only missed two since he came off the campus at Queen's to undoubtedly become one of the greatest Canadian-born convert-kicking specialists of all time."

Intra-Club Golf Set at Colwood

Ti-Cats Meet Als In East Grid Fixture

Hamilton Tiger-Cats' five-game winning streak goes on the line Saturday when they clash with Montreal Alouettes, the team no other club but Hamilton has beaten in the Big Four Football Union this season.

The Ticats did it the last time they met Montreal and it started them on their victory string, which has just about assured them of a playoff berth. They edged the Als 7-6 in a bruising game in Hamilton at a time when the outlook for the Tiger-Cats wasn't too bright.

The win came after they had lost three of their four games and since then have been unbeatable.

This is the top engagement of weekend in the east, where five games are scheduled. Toronto Argonauts meet the Rough Riders in Ottawa in the other Big Four encounter while in the Ontario Rugby Football Union it's Toronto Balmy Beach at Sarnia Imperials.

The league-leading Alouettes go against Hamilton with a four-game winning streak of their own. They also have a four-point edge over the runner-up Tiger Cats. The two clubs have played each other three times, with Montreal winning two.

The Rough Riders, whose only win in nine games has been against the Argonauts, are just playing out the schedule. But Argos still have something to shoot at. They could make the playoff or tie Hamilton with five straight wins—if Hamilton losses three or four games.

Ottawa Said Lagging In Care of Forests

The Canadian forester will have to broaden his outlook if he is to live up to his obligations and insure a continuous wood supply, J. A. Brodie of the Ontario department of lands and forests, said here Thursday.

He was speaking on a panel discussing the forester's obligations, part of the theme of Canadian Institute of Forestry's annual meeting at Empress Hotel.

Mr. Brodie called for support of biological, cultural and insecticide programs of forest protection; affordance of all possible attention to public education of its responsibility and ability to recognize early outbreaks of pests or disease and co-operate in their suppression with public agencies.

Until the federal government assumes more financial responsibility for forest protection from pests and fire the public will continue to suffer, he went on.

PROVINCES PAY MOST

He drew attention to the fact that federal taxation on forests is greater than provincial, but that the federal government had fewer obligations. Mr. Brodie said $11,000,000 is spent annually on protection, mostly by the provinces.

Dr. G. S. Allen, dean of the faculty of forestry, University of British Columbia, speaking on establishing new forest land, cautioned, "what we do today or tomorrow will affect generations to come, favorably or unfavorably."

He said foresters should follow nature as closely as possible in reforestation programs, but at the same time, more energy should be put into research.

The two methods of reforestation—natural and direct seeding—can be improved, the dean said. Too often, he thought, foresters proceed to forget about a newly seeded area.

INTEGRATION NEEDED

G. A. Kingston of Lower Ottawa Fire Protection Association, speaking to the discussion said he believed splitting forest responsibility between management and the government is a weakness.

"Until there is integration, co-operation will never be a success," he said.

Mr. Brodie explained that defense commitments were probably the reason the federal government had not devoted more funds to forest protection. Therefore, the government could not assume command over protection. He referred mainly to fire protection.

F. L. Flatt, woodlands manager of Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co., told the meeting that quality is the only thing which maintains eastern Canadian newsprint markets.

"It is our duty as foresters, businessmen and good citiizens to ensure the quality of second growth trees," said Mr. Flatt.

Speaking for the west, T. G. Wright, chief forester of Canadian Forest Products Ltd., said that the softwood stands of timber and long rotations would ensure a quantity of production for the future.

Power to Tax Liquor Outlets Sought by City

City Council Thursday decided to refer a resolution to the Union of B.C. Municipalities to meet here next week requesting that all new types of liquor outlets be made liable to a trade license fee.

City solicitor A. J. Patton pointed out to council that the city can now only impose a trades license fee on beer parlors between a minimum of $30 and a maximum of $80. The council had no authority under the municipal act to tax other types of liquor outlets such as licensed restaurants and cocktail bars, he said.

Mr. Patton suggested that the fee for all liquor outlets be set at a minimum of $150 for each six months.

The council felt that the matter should be brought to the attention of the UBCM convention to open at the Empress Hotel next Wednesday.

A COMMUNITY CHEST PROJECT

Aged, Lonely, Turn to Citizens' Recreation Room

By PETE LOUDON

The winds are blowing coldler and park benches are unfriendly now to stiffening joints. There's no warmth in the Beacon Hill Lookout and along the causeway the balustrade is chilled and the harbor cheerless.

Where is an old man to go?

The public galleries in the police courts fill for awhile and there is a few minutes peace to be had in bus depots before the chatter of shoppers and the clatter of children begins.

And of course there is the room where a man hangs his hat, but that can be the most tedious place of all if there is nowhere else to go.

When a man is alone and old and wise and wants to be independent and still share a few chuckles with others of his own generation, — it's easy in the summer. There are parks and piers and excavations and benches at the bus stops.

But when fall and winter begin to challenge, there has to be a door against the weather. There is such a door on lower Cormorant Street with a sign above it which says "Citizens' Recreation Rooms." Upstairs and inside, the summer comes back every afternoon.

There's life in the sun behind the plate glass windows which foil the wind. There's new life in the voices when the pipes are drawing and the checkers and crib boards appear.

The rich blue fragrance of shag tobacco, cosy waves from a Quebec heater, a stack of magazines and the company of friends, it's all free. There are no rules.

About 60 men visit there daily. Hours are from 1 to 9 p.m. Besides the games and magazines, there is a radio, but rather than disturb the players, caretaker George Brown keeps it turned off except in the evening.

But a committee of three who keep the "rooms" in operation, Capt. Walter Brown, A. H. Hundleby and A. A. Cownden, are first to admit that the premises are poorly lighted, inadequately heated and in need of renovation.

Most of the furniture was donated by residents in 1932 when the haven was originated to give shelter to the single unemployed.

Expenditures such as rent and heat are a threat to existence of the rooms. A couple of years ago the piano had to be sold to pay rent.

About 80 cents of every $100 collected by Community Chest is spared to keep the Citizen's Recreation Rooms alive. Your donation to the current campaign will add to the comforts and see the oldsters through another winter of crib and checkers.

Reforestation Seen Blocked By B.C. Taxes

Imposts Discourage Private Initiative

Private reforestation initiative is restricted by B.C. taxation policies, L. R. Andrews told Thursday's session of Canadian Institute of Forestry annual meeting in Empress Hotel.

Mr. Andrews said the "climate from a taxation point of view is not favorable" in this country to allow management to produce second growth timber on land which it has logged.

He is executive vice-president of B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association and was commenting on an outline of provincial forest taxation given by F. G. Rainsford, of B.C. finance department.

The tax official told delegates that annual taxation on tree-farm acreage amounting to 10,000 acres is 2¼ per cent (one per cent general rate and 1¼ per cent school rate). For the size mentioned, tax would amount to $3,187.77.

He said valuation of tree-farm land is done in accordance with annual, or periodic crop obtained from the growth capacity of the site.

DANGER FORESEEN

D. L. Love, secretary-treasurer of the institute said government forcing of management procedures bears the danger of making the industry non-competitive.

S. Moir of Western Forestry, Portland, Ore., said Canadian lumbermen are handicapped by not being allowed to use timber stands as collateral for loans. Recent legislation in his country has made this possible, he said, but it had been an unpleasant situation previously.

Panel chairman G. W. I. Creighton, deputy minister, Nova Scotia department of lands and forests, said:

"Our lumbermen are starving too, but in between meals a surprising number of them drive around in Cadillacs."

Speaking on government surveys, R. D. Loomis, Alberta department of lands and forests surveys director, said a thorough photographic-map survey had been completed in the neighboring province, affording great assistance to lumber manufacturers.

He said Alberta has about 140,000 square miles of woodland out of a total provincial area of 255,000 square miles, or 49 per cent of Alberta's area.

FEDERAL CONTRIBUTION

Research by the federal government on Canada's forests is being carried out by a staff of more than 60 scientists, delegates were told by J. D. B. Harrison, chief of forest research division, department of northern affairs and national resources.

His department has tried to give better directiveness to research, he said.

Bonds Unchanged

MONTREAL (CP)—Few price changes were noted in quiet trading on Montreal bond markets today. Some interest was shown in the new CPR 3¾ issues of '72 while other corporate issues were quiet and mainly unchanged. In the government market, the Canada 3s of '66 weer shade up at 101¼ bid. The market was otherwise generally unchanged.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARY

Uraniums Soar Other Shares Dip

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market trading rocketed along at a feverish pace today that resulted in volumes even higher than Thursday's 18-month records.

Trading at 2 p.m. totalled 4,297,000 shares, about 400,000 shares heavier than to that point Thursday and the heaviest since April, 1953.

About 10 issues traded well over 100,000 shares.

At top of the list was Consolidated Dension which turned over 600,000 shares and rocketed to a 1954 high of $1.09 after closing on Thursday at 51 cents. The increase in its value followed rumors of a good hole on its uranium property adjoining Algom in Ontario's Blind River district. Algom itself hit a 1954 high of $9.90—a 85-cent increase on the day—in heavy dealings.

FEVERISH TRADING

Lorado and Sudbury Contact, Thursday's features, were active and strong. Also ahead in feverish dealings were Quebec Nickel, McMarmac Red Lake, Roche and Geneva.

The rest of the market fell off. Industrial losses outnumbered the gains more than two to one and papers, utilities, steels, financial institutions, motors, manufacturers and retails were weak.

Losses in individual industrials, however, were generally small and trading light.

Canadian Devonian countered the lower western oil trend with a sharp climb on 170,000 shares. Great Sweet Grass hit a 1954 high of $2.98.

Base metal and gold changes were mostly pennies and minor fractions.

Wall Street Widely Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—A wide mixture of gains and losses prevailed today in an irregularly moving stock market.

Two points in either direction covered the range of change, although several stocks moved outside those limitations.

Among higher stocks were New York Central, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Western Maryland, Royal Dutch Petroleum, American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Allied Chemical and Reeves Bros.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Hiram Walker advanced ¾, McIntyre gained ½ and Canadian Pacific and Dome Mines were up ¼. International Nickel and Distillers Seagram were unchanged.

Lake Shore, Canadian issue on the American exchange, dropped ⅛. Giant Yellowknife and Royalite Oil were unchanged.

Montreal Retreats But Range Narrow

MONTREAL (CP)—The stock market retreated narrowly in moderate trading today.

Canadian Industries, Bathurst "B" and Shawinigan were off 1 point, while half-point dips were posted by Aluminium, General Dynamics and International Nickel.

Powell River and Stelco slipped ¼.

Howard Smith advanced 2 points at 25½. Canadian Celanese and Brown Company gained ¾, while Seagram's was ⅜ better.

Vote Saturday On Waterworks For Chemainus

$450,000 By-Law Will Include Reservoir Construction Costs

CHEMAINUS—Chemainus ratepayers will vote Saturday on a by-law to provide this area with an up-to-date water-works system.

Presentation of the bylaw, approved by the department of municipal affairs, marks the end of prolonged planning on the part of the municipality and of lengthy negotiations between the municipality and MacMillan & Bloedel Limited, Chemainus Division, owner of the existing system.

Approximately 825 ratepayers are eligible to vote on the by-law. Ratepayers affected are those residing in the area bounded on the north by the municipal boundary, on the west by the new Island Highway, and on the south by the Indian Reservation.

NEW RESERVOIR

The $450,000 by-law calls for a storage reservoir of approximately 100 million gallons, to be created by raising the level of Holyoak Lake on Mount Brenton by closing the present outlet which flows into the Chemainus River, and arranging for the lake to flow into Miller Creek during the period of low water.

It will cover replacement of the present intake dam at Miller Creek with a larger dam, thereby increasing the capacity of the intake pond to 10 million gallons; the laying a new main from the intake to Chemainus, with a branch west of Fuller's Lake to supply the southern part of the Chemainus area, and extension and improvement of the present distribution system.

With the exception of the northern part of the area, where a storage tank and booster pump will be required, supply will be by gravity.

REPAID IN 25 YEARS

It is hoped to complete work at Holyoak Lake and Miller Creek and to lay the supply mains by the end of 1955. The system will be capable of supplying 800,000 gallons of water daily, sufficient for the Chemainus mill and more than double the present population. The project will be financed by a debenture issue repayable over 25 years.

Charge to domestic consumers will be $3.50 per month.

The by-law also provides for the taking over from the company of the present system, assessed value $68,500, as well as its water rights on Miller Creek.

Fishboat Strikes Chemainus Reef

CHEMAINUS—A 38-foot fishboat, the Sea Lion, ran aground on Bird Reef in Chemainus Harbor this week when its skipper, Paul Coulonbe, misjudged his position in early morning wind and mist.

He was trolling slowly at the time, and the main damage was a sprung plank. The vessel was refloated on the rising tide and reached harbor under its own power.

Nanaimo Man Faces Trial For Perjury

Gave Evidence In Traffic Case

NANAIMO—A charge of perjury, as a result of certain evidence he gave in defense of a friend, has been laid against Gordon Stanley Doward, who appeared in police court Thursday and was remanded to Oct. 21.

H. B. Heath, Nanaimo lawyer appearing for the Crown, asked that another magistrate be appointed to try the accused.

Police Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts agreed to such an appointment and released Doward without bail.

Doward was charged after he gave evidence last August in defense of Henry McNeil, whose driver's license had been under suspension, but who was charged by RCMP with driving. Doward, on oath, said that he was the driver of the car, and not McNeil.

Two RCMP constables gave evidence that from their vantage point McNeil, "beyond shadow of a doubt," was driving the car. McNeil was fined $250 at the August trial and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Speeding on Fitzwilliam Street cost Frederick Leonard Brown $12.50 besides a license suspension of 30 days. He pleaded guilty to the charge in police court Thursday.

C.A.R.S. Collects $3,700 in Albernis

PORT ALBERNI—Second annual appeal for funds in this district by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has reached $3,700.

Local physiotherapist for C.A.R.S., Mrs. Margaret Pollard, reported receiving a donation of $12 from a patient who was too badly crippled to leave her home.

35,000 Tons Gravel Needed for Highway

CHEMAINUS — Premier Construction Co., builders of the new highway around Ladysmith, will purchase 35,000 tons of gravel from the municipality.

A representative of the construction firm approached North Cowichan council on behalf of the public works department. Council agreed to sell the gravel at two cents a ton, providing the sale is to the government.

Yellow Point Road Pavement Promised

LADYSMITH — Two more miles of Yellow Point Road will be paved in 1955, William Mossman has told North Oyster Ratepayers' Association.

He said the work was promised by Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi in a recent interview.

Councillors Approve Cenotaph Floodlight

CHEMAINUS — The municipality will instal a floodlight for the cenotaph property in Chemainus, North Cowichan council decided this week.

Legion secretary W. Rice had appeared before council at a recent meeting and pressed for the installation of the light. Mr. Rice maintained that a previous council had approved the floodlight, but he had been unable to find any correspondence from the municipality on the matter.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison said at that time he was unaware of the approval being given, but that if a previous council had done so, council would be obligated to install the light.

The letter covering the approval, dated 1951, was found later by Mr. Rice and forwarded to council. After studying the letter, members agreed to install the floodlight.

"They will have to understand that any subsequent maintenance of the installation will be up to the legion," Reeve Murison said, pointing out that the municipality makes a yearly grant towards the cenotaph.

The application of Steve Zoretich for water rights on Crozier Road Creek will likely be granted by the Provincial Water Rights Department.

Council received a letter from the department stating that objections to the application raised by the municipality had been dismissed. The municipality had asked that the application be held up until the dispute between Mr. Zoretich and other ratepayers in the area was settled.

CITY HALL SAVES VICTORIA FROM GOING TO THE CATS

Council Orders Guerrilla War in Feline-Filled Alleys

Victoria's stray cat population had better keep to the deep shadows in the alleys from now on if they want to stay healthy.

Or the city pound will get them if they don't watch out.

The city's cat colony has been increasing at such an alarmingly progressive rate that city council Thursday endorsed a campaign intended to cut a wide swath into feline ranks.

Public works committee, which apparently is the city's cat conscience, reported a vast increase in cats during the summer, to the point where now there are more cats than dogs.

The committee added it was "deeply concerned."

The city pound today received more calls about cats than dogs, it was further reported. "We consider that a campaign to reduce the number of cats at this season would be in the best interests of the city and its residents."

Except the cats.

However, the poundkeeper has been instructed to get going—pick up and destroy all unwanted cats on request, free of charge.

* * *

The Victoria Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Cats' Protective League both endorse the action. SPCA president Robin Dunsmuir said he approved "providing it is done painlessly and humanely."

Miss T. W. Kerswell, an official of the league, said swollen cat ranks were caused by irresponsibility of citizens who don't take proper care of their animals.

SIX STITCHES FOR CAT BITE

Six stitches were required to sew up a wound to seven-year-old Judy Ross' ear at Jubilee Hospital Thursday night. The little girl, who lives at 212 Stormont, said she had been bitten by a cat.

CITY COUNCIL'S CRACKDOWN on cats causes flurry of worry among area's cat and kitten colony. Quintette here talk over grim situation with sympathetic spaniel. City now has more cats than dogs, but this spaniel fears end of daily run after neighborhood pussy if cat ranks drastically thinned.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

A recent survey of the advertising in a well-known and widely-circulated magazine for women has brought me to this conclusion:

Woman is no longer necessary to man.

If my interpretation of history is correct, in the old days, woman performed many useful functions for man. Woman cooked his meals, washed his clothing, ironed his shirts, woke him up in the morning, entertained him in the evening.

But now, my survey of advertising convinces me, woman is no longer necessary, and is ready to join the Dodo Bird as an extinct species.

One of the advertisements, for instance, points out that a woman need no longer labor over a hot stove. Stoves are now completely automatic, and, after the proper dials are set and the buttons pushed, they sound Chow Call when the meal is ready.

Obviously even a man can operate such an automatic stove, and thus eliminate the middlewoman, saving himself untold trials and tribulations.

As for washing and ironing of clothes, woman no longer is of use to man.

The advertisements tell us automatic washers, driers, and ironers are available at the drop of a budget plan.

Why, then, does man need to be encumbered with woman, when all he has to do is pay one dollar down for a machine which washes, dries, and irons his clothing?

And, according to the advertisements, the age-old function of woman in waking up man in the morning is now out-dated.

Today, man can be wakened by a clock-radio, slipping smoothly from deep sleep to complete consciousness to the dulcet tones of Liberace playing the Twelfth Street Rag.

Man no longer needs to be entertained by woman in the evening. Instead of hearing idle prattle about the youngsters, man can listen to Red Buttons on radio or watch drugstore cowboys on television.

The advertisements in the woman's magazine mentioned above point to only one conclusion:

Woman is not here to stay.

Leaks Threaten Floor at Arena

Undermining Feared; Roof-Trouble Also

Fears that serious damage will result from leaky pipes in the floor of Memorial Arena, as well as leaks in the barrel roof of the rink were expressed today by manager Joe Dukowski.

New leaks in brine pipes embeded in the concrete floor of the arena have been discovered, he said, and there were indications the huge slab was being undermined as a result.

Brine leaking from the refrigerator pipes was found to be sinking underground.

The pipes have been a source of trouble ever since the $1,000,000 rink was completed in 1949, but earlier leaks have been spotted quickly, because the brine came to the top, and quick repairs have been made.

The latest "under-side" leaks have become serious in the last few months, Mr. Dukowski said, and "I don't know what we can do about it."

He thought the wrong type of tubing was installed in the first place because he knew "good pipe laid in concrete should last between 20 and 30 years."

REPAIRS URGENT

As for leaks in the roof, the arena manager said repairs should be carried out immediately before winter weather sets in.

He expressed concern over rain seeping through expansion joints and soaking insulation sheets fastened to the ceiling.

Dukowski said the leaky roof problem has been before civic officials for several months, and attempts had been made to have the original contractors make repairs.

But no agreement had been reached apparently.

Cost of the repairs were estimated at $6,000.

Saanich Sees Homes Boom

Saanich may have more than 600 new homes by the end of 1954 according to figures released today by municipal building inspector, Jack Taylor.

He said that in September alone 58 new homes were started at an estimated value of $339,230. Thirty more dwellings have already begun in October with a permit valuation of $160,000. The nine months ending September 30 showed 529 new home constructions recorded with a value of $3,315,340.

This, compared with 458 houses with a valuation of $2,197,623 for the corresponding period of 1953, illustrates the gain, while new construction is in a healthy state throughout the municipality, the most marked development is noted in the Glanford Avenue district where new subdivisions are going up adjacent to the North Douglas section of the Pat Bay highway.

Re-Seed or Perish, Foresters Warned

It is the lumberman's patriotic and economic duty to restock forest lands or he runs the risk of committing economic suicide, members of Canadian Institute of Forestry were told today.

Davis Carey, B.C. Forest Service, made the remark in upholding the case for "sustained yield" in B.C. forests. He pointed out the number of producers who had gone bankrupt in B.C. after laying waste the land and doing nothing to reforest depleted acreage.

J. D. B. Harrison, chief of Forest research division, federal department of northern affairs and national resources, said reforestation could not proceed too quickly because there are so many problems in connection with the subject.

"Some are very complex and others can be dangerous in the preliminaries," he said.

Dr. G. S. Allen, dean of faculty of forestry, UBC, pointed out the need for continued research into reforestation. In B.C., he said, there has not been complete success in regeneration of certain species.

What is needed in Canada is a cheap method of attaining artificial reforestation, said H. J. Hodgins, consulting forester, summing up two days of discussion.

He made several recommendations to the 170 foresters in attendance. They could do a "real service," he said, by giving strong support and aid to a national movement to promote integrated utilization of the forest crop.

Foresters should also promote research into new crops and participate in pest and unified fire control.

Lumbermen might also advocate forest taxation which would assist promotion of new crops and good forestry, he said, as well as advocating professional standards among all foresters, in and out of government and private industry.

The latter, he said, would result in them "playing on the same team and would merge knowledge to make sustained yield forestry a successful business interprise."

The annual meeting will end today with completion of a business session.

Library Show Depicts Man's Basic Rights

A much-traveled exhibit, marking the 200th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University in New York City, is in Victoria.

Titled "Man's Right to Knowledge," the exhibit, a series of illustrations depicting the basic freedoms and rights of mankind, went on display in the music room of the Victoria Public Library today.

It will be here until November 2 with recorded music provided for visitors from 3 to 5 p.m. each day. The exhibit will be open during library hours only.

Bus Line Tie-Up Seen on Island

Drivers Talk Strike When Company Rejects 9-Cent Boost Recommended by Conciliators

Sixty Vancouver Island Coach Lines drivers may strike following company rejection of a nine-cent-an-hour pay increase, it was learned today.

The wage boost was a conciliation board recommendation. The drivers' union (CIO-CCL) had asked an 18-cent hourly increase as well as other benefits, but agreed to settle for the lesser increase and certain statutory holidays.

A union spokesman said he believed a strike would result. Drivers were being canvassed in this regard now, he stated.

Present drivers' wage rate is $1.58½ an hour. The men are members of Local 234, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL).

In the event of a strike there would be no bus travel between Victoria and the Albernis or Campbell River.

Winds Delay Removal of Crash Bodies

Helicopters will brave a 35-mph wind today and try and bring out four bodies from an aircraft wreck high atop Mount Arrowsmith, it was reported to the Times at press time from search headquarters at Parksville.

Killed Sunday were a civilian engineer and three RCAF officers when their Expediter aircraft crashed into the mountain on a flight from Vancouver to Tofino.

Weather closed in on the peak Wednesday and Thursday, halting removal of the bodies by 'copter.

A team of department of transport technicians are now atop the mountain investigating the crash. A 13-man ground party has now spent two night at the scene, going over wreckage and taking out bodies.

Trial Delayed For Man With Many Names

Robert Allan Bisskey, alias Robert G. Kurtiss, alias C. L. Cummings, formerly of 844 Dunsmuir, was again remanded in city police court today on charges of defrauding two local stores with three worthless cheques. The case was moved ahead to Monday.

Bisskey is charged under the name Cummings. He was committed for trial in higher court Thursday on car theft charge under the name Kurtiss.

It is alleged that he took a Victoria U-drive to Mexico and attempted to sell it there after he was jailed on a drunk and disorderly charge. It was reported that while he was in jail the tires were stolen from the car. The car was later recovered by an insurance adjuster and Bisskey was shipped back here.

Impaired Drivers Fined $250 Each

Two drivers were fined a total of $550 in a brief special sitting of Esquimalt court today.

Dennis C. Bryson, 763 Esquimalt Road, and Wilfred H. Gibson, 4916 Prospect Lake Road, were each fined $250 for driving while their abilities were impaired by alcohol. Gibson paid an additional $50 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Police said Bryson had driven his car off Macauley Street early today, traversed 85 feet of roadside property and piled into a tree. Damage was heavy.

Gibson reportedly struck an oncoming car Thursday on Tillicum Road while on the wrong side of the white line. He failed to stop but was later caught by police who witnessed the accident. A 12-month suspension was recommended for both drivers.

Marine Engineer D. C. Murphy Dies

Denis C. Murphy, 48, 791 Pandora, died Thursday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Born at Mile 141 in the Cariboo, Mr. Murphy was a marine engineer with the Canadian Naval Auxiliary Vessels at Dockyard.

He lived in Victoria for 10 years.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his wife, Wilma; one sister, Mrs. H. Morison of Aleza Lake, B.C.; an aunt, Mrs. Denis Murphy, Vancouver; and several nephews and cousins.

Prayers will be said at 8.15 p.m. Monday at McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel and funeral mass will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Andrews Cathedral. Interment will be at Royal Oak.

Car Collisions Injure Three

Three persons went to hospital and damages totalled more than $1,100 following two car accidents Thursday night.

Louis J. Morin, 35, and Clifford P. O'Neil, 23, both soldiers of the 119 AA Battery, were hurt when a car in which they were being driven by Joseph J. Arsenault, 568 Prince Robert Drive, struck a parked car on Esquimalt Road.

The parked car was driven into another parked car and damage to all three vehicles amounted to over $1,000, police said.

Morin suffered a possible fractured ankle and O'Neil knee and chin cuts. Both were taken to RCN Hospital.

A two-car collision at Douglas and Dupplin sent Thomas Armstrong, 40, 619 Dupplin, to St. Joseph's Hospital with forehead lacerations. Driver of the other car involved was Frank Edward Wilcox, 1842A Holland Avenue, police said.

Armstrong was treated and sent home. Damage to the two cars totalled about $125.

DROODLES

A psychiatrist who saw this Droodle claimed (no one asked him) that it shows that I once had a secret desire to drown my sister. Poppycock! Also horsefeathers and banana oil! He is 100 per cent incorrect. The person I always wanted to drown was my Aunt Yolanda. And there was nothing secret about my wanting to drown her. She used to spend five hours a day in the bathtub and that bugle was driving me crazy. Eventually, Aunt Yolanda left home to take a job with Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra. She couldn't play very well unless she was taking a bath, but Phil didn't mind. In fact he even featured her in several numbers as "Yolanda and Her Magic Tub."

Aldermen Save Boulevard Trees

Suggestion that all trees and boulevards be removed to provide additional car-parking space on Vancouver and Cook Streets, between Meares and Pandora, was turned down by City Council Thursday.

Ald. Millard Mooney made the proposal.

While his colleagues felt the time would come when the trees would have to be cut, they thought there was no need yet to widen Vancouver and Cook Streets and the trees should be left alone for at least another year.

The question of cutting down the boulevard trees came up for discussion when the council dealt with Olson Motors Ltd.'s request for permission to cut certain trees on Cook Street.

The company complained the trees were interfering with their advertising.

W. H. Warren, park administrator, opposed the firm's application.

He pointed out that over a period of years there have been many requests from the larger firms on Cook Street for the cutting down of the trees in front of their properties. But the city in the past has consistently refused to remove the trees on the street, he said.

Mr. Warren also said Olson Motors Ltd. built on the present site with full knowledge that the trees might be a menace to their advertising.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Canada geese were the subject of an answer in "Ask the Times" last Monday. Is it known whether the Canada goose population of Canada is increasing or decreasing? Also what is the open season on those birds? T.G.M.

A. Since the big drought in the middle western plains of the U.S. and the prairies of this country records show the species is increasing, says the B.C. Game Board. Open seasons are on a provincial basis. In B.C. the up-coming season will run from tomorrow, Oct. 16, to Jan. 13, 1955.

Q. Was Jem Belcher ever heavyweight pugilistic champion? H.W.A.

A. He was prize ring champion of England 1800-1803. The Queensberry rules were not in effect then and gloves of the modern type were not in use. Belcher fought scores of bare knuckle finish fights, unhurt, when a round was not three minutes but lasted till one or other of the fighters was knocked down. The records show that Jem lost an eye when hit by a ball in a tennis match, and that accident caused his retirement.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

ROLL IT OUT, LOVINGLY, SCOTTISH HORTICULTURIST BURRS

It's RHO-DO-DEN-DRON... And Don't Dare Slur It

E. H. M. COX
. . . loves 'mums, too

By TONY DICKASON

One of the world's foremost horticulturists and authority on rhododendrons, E. H. M. Cox, of Glendoick, Perth, Scotland, admitted here today a continuing irritation over the fact that most people can neither pronounce nor spell the name of his favorite flower.

"They just slur over the word rhododendron," he said sadly.

In a local newspaper today, the word was spelled "rhodedenron." On the tickets for Mr. Cox's lecture Thursday, sponsored by no less authorities than the Victoria Horticultural Society and the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Society, the flower was spelled "rhodendron."

"There's only one right way to spell it," said quietly-spoken Mr. Cox, taking pen in hand and writing in large capital letters:

'R-H-O-D-O-D-E-N-D-R-O-N'

Mr. Cox, who has traveled the world over for years picking up exotic flora hither and yon warns would-be imbibers of nectar made from rhododendron honey not to. In other words, don't drink wine made from the flower. It'll probably knock you off.

In upper Burma, for example, where "rhodos" sell for a fraction of a thin Burmese coin per dozen—there are lots of them — people sometimes drink the wine, when hard up.

"But they die off like flies," said Mr. Cox.

The Burmese obviously aren't up on their Greek history, for 2,000 years ago a whole slough of Green militiamen were thoroughly poisoned for just eating the honey made from the flower.

Of course, in areas where rhododendrons are numerous, honey is unhealthy. For some reason it doesn't bother the bees; just people.

It was originally the Greeks that "had a word for it," as the rhododendron originally came from Asia Minor. Today there are between 600 and 700 species and come mostly from China, Burma, Japan and India.

"They grow well in B.C. also, if kept out of the wind," said Mr. Cox.

In his lecture at Oak Bay Junior High School Thursday night, he praised highly Victoria's privately-owned gardens and said one of the best features were the dwarf conifers.

He was particularly attracted by B.C. dogwood, the province's unofficial emblem, and said "it should really be established as the official flower of B.C. I advocate it, most certainly. No other province in Canada has such a distinctive emblem."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Up-to-Date Price Tags Of Fruits, Vegetables

By PENNY SAVER

Funny how stalls of fruits and vegetables look so much more colorful at this time of year, isn't it? . . . especially ones in store windows. Apples seem so much redder and vegetables so much greener when contrasted with Victoria's October weather. Speaking of apples, they are a lot more plentiful this week than they were last, even though last week was Thanksgiving. They aren't any cheaper, though, now that they're in their prime.

Delicious and McIntosh apples are still selling at five for 25 cents, but they seem a lot bigger now . . . especially the Delicious. Some whopping big ones are going for 7 cents a piece, but that's understandable, when you practically get a meal out of one apple. They're juicy, too. This I will guarantee, for I tried 'em.

★ ★ ★

Kiddies are going crazy over pomegranates and they don't mind that new, lowered price tag Victoria merchants have given them either. Pomegranates are now 5 cents cheaper, selling at 20 cents each.

★ ★ ★

You can buy firm-looking Anjou pears for 25 cents a trio now. Tokay grapes at 14 cents a pound and Ribiers at 25 cents a pound. If you fancy a persimmon, then buy one for 15 cents.

★ ★ ★

Fresh mushrooms tempted me, and I bought some, despite the 75c a pound price tag. The mushrooms were worth it, though, and I feel like buying some more. Try frying them in butter and eating with a sizzling, tender steak!

★ ★ ★

Pickling tomatoes are to be seen everywhere, and most stores have tagged them at 25 cents for two pounds. Beets are 15 cents for two good-sized bunches and savoys are the same price per head.

Vegetable marrow is still 8 cents a pound, Brussel sprouts are 25 cents a pound and cabbage is 8 cents a pound.

★ ★ ★

To Wed at St. Mary's

Commodore and Mrs. V. S. Godfrey, 1004 Terrace Avenue, entertained at a cocktail party for their son, Mr. John Godfrey, and his fiancee, Miss Robin Horwood, daughter of Mr. Cyril Horwood, St. John's Newfoundland, when Mr. Godfrey and Miss Horwood, who are at present in Vancouver, came to Victoria several days ago to make plans for the wedding. It will take place in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on Nov. 6 at 3 p.m. The bride-elect's father will arrive for the wedding on Oct. 26. Bridesmaid will be Miss Pat McGrath of St. John's.

Bride Chooses Lace and Net

A lace redingote featuring alternate skirt panels of net was worn over a wedding gown of net over satin by charming Laura Marie Young, Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Young, Royal Oak, when she became the bride of Stanley Henwood, Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Henwood, Portsmouth, Eng., in a ceremony at St. John's Anglican Church, Victoria.

She wore a lace tiara to hold her veil of silk illusion net which misted to chapel length, and her bouquet was created from pink chrysanthemums.

Canon George Biddle conducted the double-ring ceremony.

Sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Bette Young, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of pink taffeta and carrying a bouquet of pink and blue chrysanthemums.

The bride's sister, Miss Rae Young, bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue taffeta and also carried pink and blue chrysanthemums.

Kenneth Young, brother of the bride, was best man, and ushers were William Hamilton and Alan Young, brother of the bride.

Reception was held in McEwen's Rose Room, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to California. Upon return to British Columbia they will live at 314 West 12th Avenue, Vancouver.

Nature Is Gardener's Best Teacher Says Vancouver Landscape Expert

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Barbara Mather of North Vancouver, one of Britsih Columbia's two women landscape architects, has this advice for both the amateur and professional gardener: Let nature be your teacher.

Take a vine maple, for example. Many would-be gardeners consider the plant as common as weeds and therefore not fit to grace their lawns and parks.

Miss Mather is perturbed by this attitude.

"Look at the vine maples in all their glory in the fall. There is nothing in nature to match their riot of color. Or in winter, with slim figures reaching skyward, they possess all the artistry of an etching. And, of course, in spring . . . delicate as a maiden hair fern, they burst forht with the snowdrops and crocuses."

"But what do people do?" queries Miss Mather. "Hack them down, bulldoze them, burn them."

Landscaping, she says, should be in keeping with the style of your home. And if there should be vine maples on your property, leave them be.

For Miss Mather landscaping consists of designing a garden so that its personality matches that of the home and family. Everything is included, including the hobbies of the individual members of the family.

A popular misconception, says Miss Mather, is that landscaping is associated exclusively with parks and large estates.

"People don't realize that the small home plot requires an equal amount of planning. Every corner must be utilized to advantage."

As a member of the American Landscape Association and the Canadian Society of Landscape Architects and Town Planners, Miss Mather has lectured for University extension courses and her blueprints have appeared in many Canadian magazines and newspapers.

Symphony Tea

Detailed plans for the Silver Tea, being held October 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wallace, Beach Drive, were discussed at a meeting of the Womens Committee, Victoria Symphony Society, held at the home of Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh, King George Terrace. The tea will be open to the public and will be served from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. J. Gillespie and Mrs. Hugh Chisholm are co-conveners of a committee which will arrange the annual rummage sale planned for December 1.

Four new members were introduced. They were Mrs. Doreen Radcliff, Mrs. Sylvia Townsend, Mrs. Maurice Humber and Miss Doreen Hearle.

A white ballerina-length gown of nylon net over satin with bodice of scalloped lace was worn by the attractive bride. She wore a jacket of matching lace and a heart-shaped pearl-studded tiara held her jeweled chapel veil. Pink rosebuds formed her wedding bouquet and her only jewelry was a gold locket and her grandmother's sapphire ring.

Miss Frances Burdick was the bride's only attendant, wearing a gown of flame-colored nylon net and lace with matching halo headdress. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums.

They were Mrs. Catherine Juptill and Mrs. Alice Sadler. Together they cut a decorated cake presented by Mrs. Lillian Stocker and each received a corsage and best wishes from Mrs. Margaret Buckley. A new member, Mrs. Margaret Young, was initiated into the lodge.

A special meeting to finalize plans for this will be convened at Memorial Hall Oct. 22.

Etheridge who is giving flower arrangement classes in the church hall each Wednesday, will devote several evenings to Christmas arrangements and corsages. These classes are open to anyone interested. Tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. N. Westwood, assisted by Mrs. A. E. Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Stevenson and Mrs. Wyper. November meeting will be held at home of Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, Cordova Bay Road.

WHY GROW OLD?

Reader Wants to Reduce, Should Exercise Instead

Q.—"I am 31 years old. I think I am overweight. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 126 pounds. My bust measures 33½ inches, waist 28 inches and hips 36 inches. Please help me because I just don't look right in my clothes."

A.—You are not at all overweight. You should take waist-reducing exercises for a loss of two inches there. Also increase your bust measurement a bit with exercise.

Q.—"I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 103 pounds. I am 13 years old. How much should I weigh?"

A.—You should weigh about 128 pounds. Hurry up and put them on!

Q.—"I am 19 years old, 5 feet 2½ inches tall and weigh 113 pounds. I want you to help me with my mid-section. You see I am fat there. It seems that this runs in the family. My mother and sisters have it, too. My bust measures 35½ inches, waist 23 inches and hips 33 inches. I think I could use a little more on my hips but my boy friend says they look all right. What do you think?"

A.—I think you are borrowing trouble when you want to reduce your waistline. There are very few 23-inch waists around and I cannot imagine with that measurement your waist could be fat. Your figure would be better with an increase in the hipline. You might take exercises to increase that measurement. This is not an unusual type build and it probably does run in your family.

Q.—"I have a fat face. How can I make it look skinnier? My measurements are all right. My bust measures 33 inches, wasit 23½ inches and hips 35 inches. I am 15 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh 118 pounds."

A.—You are a little underweight and might gain five pounds. The only way to make your face thinner would be to lose weight and your certainly do not need to do that. Your plump face probably makes you look fresh and glowing now.

Be thankful for the fatty deposits there because they will make you look younger later on when you are older. You can make your face look slimmer by wearing your hair high on top and close at the sides.

Q.—"It has been six weeks since my abdominal surgery. My doctor says that I can now take mild exercises to firm my abdominal muscles. I would appreciate any you might suggest."

A.—Lie on the floor on your back. Bend your left knee up close to your abdomen. Straighten the left leg toward the ceiling. Lower it to the floor with a stiff knee. Do the same thing with your right leg and continue, alternating left and right. Do this slowly at first.

Another: Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees up close to your abdomen. Straighten your knees as you slide your feet along the floor, back to starting position. Ask your doctor if these suit him. I feel sure they will.

'White Heather' Show Here Next Week With Many Stars

Like a breeze fresh from the Highland moors or a whiff of "Auld Reekie" itself, the White Heather Company will bring the homeland back to Scots of Victoria, next Wednesday and Thursday.

The galaxy of Scottish talent will appear for the two nights at the Royal Theatre under popular tenor Robert Wilson, who is making his first tour of this continent.

Well known here, however, is one of his top arists, Will Starr, accordianist, who appeared here last year and was widely acclaimed.

Margaret Mitchell, the company's leading vocalist from Dollar, Clackmannanshire, has scored triumphs with the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company on its tour of America in 1950-51 and in a London production of "The Merry Widow."

Ken Swan, ventriloquist, and Bertha Riccardo will supply the comedy while accompanist for the show is Tammas Fisher, one of Scotland's outstanding pianists.

Both Robert Wilson and Will Starr will be heard in numbers they have popularized in recordings.

Indian Curio Collection Draws 2,000 in Two Days in London

LONDON (CP)—A little London boy bowed low before the Thunderbird totem—an action which must have evoked guttural grunts of approval up in the happy hunting grounds where ancient Indian chiefs traditionally reside.

The boy was visiting an exhibition of British Columbia's Indian craftwork at the Imperial Institute, South Kensington, in the heart of London's museum area.

The exhibition, collected 50 years ago by Sir Alfred Bossom and said to be the largest privately-owned one of its kind, opened Oct. 2 and about 200 people, mostly whooping schoolchildren, viewed it in the first three hours.

Sir Alfred, now Member of Parliament for Maidstone, traveled over White Horse Pass, through the Five Finger Rapids and down the Yukon River.

"I came into contact with many of the Indians and started a collection," he said in a London interview. "In those early years of the century there were no restrictive regulations against bringing examples out of their native setting."

The exhibition, a three-month show that drew nearly 2,000 visitors during the first two days, contains examples of craftwork from everyday life—fishhooks, seal harpoons, utensils and toys—plus ceremonial features like the nine-foot-high Thunderbird which holds pride of place high on the wall at the Imperial Institute.

Examples of ancient work from many different tribes and clans are on view, including those of the Tlingit, Chilkoot, Tsimshian, Chilkat, Kitchkshan, Kwakiutl, Nootkan, Klawak and Salish peoples.

The collection has been insured for £45,000.

BOY USED SHOTGUN TO SAVE DOG

Louisiana Townsmen Rally To Defense of 10-Year-Old

MONROE, La. (UP)—Aroused neighbors and friends pledged an all-out fight today to free a fatherless 10-year-old boy from a reformatory where he was sent for pointing a loaded shotgun at two school officials who, he said "were going to kill my dog."

The Rev. W. T. Hemphill, pastor of the Apostolic Church here, said a large group had volunteered to appear in defense of Joe Cooper at a second hearing on the boy's case today.

"We have an attorney employed and with the Lord standing behind us we're going to do our best to get the boy out," he said.

The boy was committed to the Louisiana Training Institute last Friday for attempting to save his dog, "Tippie," which followed him to school.

"They were going to kill my dog," the boy said. "He's the only thing I own."

LITTLE, SHORT DOG

Joe described his pet as "only a little short dog, sort of a collie, about a foot high."

"He's not much," the boy added, "but he's mine."

Joe said the pet was taken from him and locked up after some of his schoolmates tried to kill it.

"The teacher said she would let him out at noon, but she didn't, and my dog doesn't like to be locked up," Joe said. "I rode home on my bike and got my gun because I was afraid they would kill my dog. But honest, I wouldn't have killed anybody."

STORM OF POTEST

The boy was committed to the reformatory as a juvenile delinquent five hours after he pointed the shotgun at Mrs. Tiny G. Clark, principal of the school, and truant officer M. C. Griggs. But a storm of protest persuaded City Judge Howell Heard to set a new hearing for Joe today.

Hemphill said the boy, whose father died shortly after Joe was born, had a good record in his neighborhood. He lives with his mother who receives $55 a month in state welfare assistance.

"His mother attended my church a few years ago when she lived near to it," said Mr. Hemphill, "and I know nothing against her. Citizens living within half a block of him (Joe) have never known him to misbehave whatsoever. People all around, three or four blocks, say the same thing."

Reformatory officials said the slender, blue-eyed boy had been given a crew haircut after he was admitted to the reformatory. They said he told them he liked the reformatory, "but I'd rather be home."

They said he told them he meant no harm with the shotgun.

"I wouldn't have shot anybody," he said. "I like my teacher very much. I didn't have the strength to cock the gun. I couldn't have fired it."

FALL JAZZ CONCERTS GET UNDER WAY TUESDAY

Big-Band jazz returns to Victoria next week.

The New Victoria Big Band Jazz Society will hold its opening concert at Victoria Ballroom at 8.30 p.m. Tuesday.

Directed by Gordon King, three groups, the 19-piece all-star band, a nine-piece progressive group, and a five-piece Dixieland combo, will provide varied entertainment during the evening.

The 19-piece troupe recently starred at the Parade of Bands and at a Music Performance Trust Fund showing at Royal Roads.

Tuesday's concert will be the first in a series to be held at Victoria Ballroom by the society.

Gosley's 'Smile' Show To Tour Air Force Bases

Jerry Gosley's "Smile Show" will take to the air this weekend with a tour of isolated Air Force bases on Vancouver Island.

The troupe will travel to Hollberg, Port Hardy and Tofino to perform before airmen.

In the cast will be Gosley, accordianist Al Denoni, CBC singer Pat Berry, comedienne Mary Burgess, dancer Don Leckie, pianist Andy Anderson, and emcee Len Lauk.

Gosley is hoping that the tour will help swell the St. Joseph's Villa TV Fund. About $500 of a $1,000 goal has been collected and a television set is expected to be installed shortly for TB patients at the Villa.

Brock Chisholm Assembly Speaker At Vic. College

Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the UN's World Health Organization, will speak tonight on "Changing Concepts of Maturity" when he addresses the annual assembly of Victoria College at 8.

Another feature of the assembly will be the presentation of $4,000 worth of scholarships to last year's top-ranking college students. Thirty-five persons are slated to receive such award.

Judge Joseph B. Clearihue, chairman of Victoria College Council, will preside. Dr. Harry Hickman, school principal, will present his annual report.

LONDON CRITICS SAY PORTER SHOW 'SLICK BUT SHALLOW'

LONDON (CP)—Smart, slick—but shallow—is the verdict of British critics on Cole Porter's musical "Can-Can," which opened Thursday night at the Coliseum Theatre.

Most reviewers agree with The Daily Express that it is "the dancing-est, princing-est, giddiest limb-slinging seen in sason," but find little else of substance under the show's flashy wrappings.

Vancouver's Edmund Hockridge, playing the male lead in his third West End production, draws mostly sympathetic notices for his efforts in an unrewarding role. He is, says The Financial Times, "a hero of the wide-open spaces with no acting style for sleazy interiors."

WITH THE FORCES

City Brother Team Signed Up by RCAF

By ROY THORSEN

The brother team of Kenneth and Franklin Carlson, Glen Lake, were taken on strength by the RCAF at the Victoria office of the air force recruiting unit this week.

Franklin, 20, will enter the ground crew but will be shooting for a spot in the aircrew branch. Kenneth, 18, is a recent graduate of Belmont High School and will enter the ground crew, according to Flt.-Lieut. Earle Neil of the recruiting office. Both will go to St. John, Que., for initial air force training.

Other new recruits signed by the Victoria RCAF office are: Lois E. C. Hadden, Comox; Kenneth H. Moorhead Noel, 1429 Richardson Street; Coral Elenor Roberts, 509 Palmerston Boulevard, Toronto, Ont.; Melvin C. Ellingson, 600 Currie; John Dan McNeill, 49 Esplanade, Ladysmith; Robert F. Bossons, Box 4, Westholme; Kenneth H. Croft, 221 1st Avenue S., Port Alberni; Kathleen R. Chafter, 263 Cairnsmore Street, Box 1366, Duncan; Ronald O. D. Dale Evans, 60 Painter Road, RR 1, Victoria, and Ingebrigt Hjeldnes, Hambrook Road, Ladysmith.

New inducements to produce better boys on parade and the rifle range have been offered the IOF army cadet corps, which is under the wing of 119 Battery, RCA, at Work Point Barracks.

Lieut. Cye Burley, commander, reports that Sid Normington, formerly of the British Army, is having a solid silver badge designed by Birks, to be presented to the corps' soldier judged the best rifle shot of the month.

Mr. Normington is the only honorary member of the 119 Battery's officers' mess.

In addition, Capt. Bill Pittendreigh, second in command of the regular army battery, will award a silver-headed cane to the cadet judged the best of the month in dress and efficiency.

Wren division of the Victoria Rainbow section of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets has acquired a new officer in the person of Miss Rosemary Alekson. Her rank is sub-lieutenant. Miss Alekson is employed by the Royal Bank of Canada here, reports Lieut.-Cmdr. Arthur Dando, Rainbow commander.

Lieut.-Cmdr. Dando says the Wren division of the Sea Cadet unit will be opening a recruiting drive for new members as soon as new uniforms are available. The division had been unable to accept new girls on strength for the past year or more owing to the lack of uniforms. However, under Miss Alekson's guidance the Wrens plan to make their own uniforms.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League of Canada, sponsoring body of the cadets, plans a tea on Trafalgar Day, Oct. 28, in St. John's Church hall, proceeds going toward purchase of materials needed for uniforms.

"When the uniforms are available we will accept applications from girls aged 14 to 16," said the commander. Wrens are responsible for all the office work of the corps, including typing, filing, canteen supervision and other important matters.

The commander said that the 15 youngsters in the new entry division will soon complete their familiarization period of six weeks. They will receive uniforms and be posted to a division. Boys wishing to join the next new entry division should present their applications as soon as possible. Rainbow accepts new recruits on a "stated time" basis only.

Alaska Highway Cost $12,000,000 Yearly

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Maintenance costs on the Alaska Highway, currently running in excess of $12,000,000 annually, may be reduced when responsibility for its upkeep is transferred to a government department, officials said here today.

The Canadian Army at present has the responsibility for administering and maintaining the north-west highway system.

A special committee headed by John Paul Carriere, chief engineer of the development branch of the public works committee, made a tour of the Alaska highway this summer to determine how best to administer and maintain the system. The committee was set up at the direction of the cabinet which has long wanted to have the Alaska Highway brought more directly under the control of a government department.

The committee is completing its report and indications are it will make its recommendations to Hon. Robert Winters, minister of public works, shortly. He in turn will report to the cabinet.

There are three possible recommendations: (1) That it be turned over to a department to administer and maintain, preferably the public works department.

(2) That a crown company be formed to administer the highway.

(3) That the system be divided and made responsibility of the Yukon, British Columbia and in part the federal government.

It is believed here that the committee will recommend that the highway system be made the responsibility of the department of public works.

Girl Quadruplets In Ontario Mark Fifth Birthday

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (BUP)—Except for five candles that shone through the living room window of the Hargreaves home, an important birthday might have been forgotten.

But the candles gave it away.

Thursday, Oct. 14, marked the fifth birthday of the Hargreaves quadruplets, an historic birth overshadowed only by that of the Dionne quintuplets back in 1934.

The quartette — Joyce, Joan, Jennifer and Janice—were reported healthier and happier than ever and a family source said they personally arranged their own birthday party table.

Coffee was a popular drink in Arabia before the 16th century.

Cost Split on Jubilee Job To Be Discussed With Martin

Royal Jubilee Hospital board of directors advised the City Council Thursday that it will discuss with Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin the best method of apportioning municipal responsibility for a proposed $1,400,000 addition to the hospital.

The boards action follows a disagreement between the city, Saanich and Oak Bay with regard to the share each should pay for the hospital project.

The board first proposed that each municipality should pay in proportion to 1951 census figures. The city protested, claiming that since the census figures were compiled the population of Saanich and Oak Bay have increased.

City council did not object to the board seeking assistance from the health and welfare minister, but it decided steps should be taken to present the city's side of the case. City Manager Cecil Wyatt was asked to confer with Mr. Martin.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Many bridge hands remind me of the famous Sherlock Holmes case of the dog that barked in the night. When Dr. Watson pointed out that the dog actually hadn't barked, Holmes observed that this was exactly the point. This may all seem pretty remote from a bridge hand, but I'll try to show the connection with today's hand.

Opening lead—♦ 8

West opened the eight of diamonds, dummy played low, and East finessed the jack in the forlorn hope that his partner had let from Q-10-8. South won with the queen of diamonds, of course, much relieved that he had been spared the trouble of guessing the location of the jack of diamonds.

South continued with four rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy. East also discarded clubs at each opportunity.

Declarer next led the ten of diamonds, holding the trick. He continued with the nine of diamonds, and East took the ace. East returned a club, whereupon West took the ace of clubs and led a low spade through dummy's king-jack.

It was now up to South to guess whether West had led from the ace or from the queen of spades. South needed only one spade trick in the dummy, for then he could discard on the king of diamonds and also on the king of clubs.

South made the correct decision by putting up dummy's king of spades, but this was not a pure guess. South's decision was based not on what West had done but on what West had failed to do.

South knew that West had started with four trumps, a fact which would normally induce West to open a long suit. Actually, however, West had failed to open a long suit. What could be the reason for this failure?

The only reasonable explanation was that West considered both black suits unleadable. West would have been happy to lead a spade if his suit had been headed by only small cards or by the queen. The fact that West did not lead spades indicated that his holding was headed by the ace instead of by the queen.

In short, South decided that West had the ace of spades because he had failed to open a spade.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

Every time I turn around it seems that another football game is rearing its pig-skinned head on TV.

Latest announcement comes from CBUT. At 2 p.m. Saturday the Channel 2 station will televise the game between UBC Thunderbirds and Whitworth at Varsity Stadium.

And on Sunday the WIFU tussle between Edmonton Eskimos and Regina Roughriders, played last Monday, will be carried by the CBC. Broadcast time, like the UBC game, will be 2 o'clock.

Lovers of extravagant productions will have the "Jackie Gleason" show in their living rooms Saturday evening if they stick to CBUT.

The one-hour program returns to the 8 o'clock slot with a new episode in the lives the Honewmooners, featuring Art Carney and Audrey Meadows.

The opening presentation, "Mr. Saturday Night," will spotlight Maestro Gleason's sparkling 32-member dance troupe, The June Taylor Dancers, and Raymond Bloch and his orchestra.

Next time you see Lionel Barrymore presiding over "Hall of Fame" on teevee, bow down low. The veteran actor is in his sixty-second-year in show business. That's a long stretch in any line.

An astounding bit of information comes out of New York. Hi-fi radio, the ultimate of all radio equipment, is getting even further out of reach for the average radio fan.

A radio equipment firm in the great metropolis, which usually advertises hi-fi equipment at prices ranging from $125 to $175, has recently come out with a new package deal—a $1,384.70 tag tied securely thereon.

With one ad they've had more than 500 inquiries.

Which brings up an interesting question . . . how high is hi-fi?

HIGHLIGHTS FOR TONIGHT

ON CBU:
The Beggars Opera at 7.30.
Ballad Time at 10.15.

ON CBUT:
Window On Canada at 7.30.
UBC Football at 2 p.m. Saturday.

(These program listings are as supplied by the stations themselves and The Times is not responsible for last minute changes or other alterations.) Pacific Daylight Time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY . . .

Saturday's child is one of those bright and attractive youngsters who will be able to wheel almost anything he, or she, wants out of whoever is around. So it is necessary that you early teach that unless one earns the good things present in life they are not really enjoyed, appreciated, nor do they become a part of life itself. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) —Looking at where you are headed in opinion of higher-ups as well as general public requires you be more alert to civic duties, less confined to home, family; show you have patriotic welfare of your country at heart today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—After attending worship of your choice, extracting greatest amount of good, truth, therefrom, look at your newspaper, other available media, for ways to put these worthwhile principles into effect in everyday living.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Now you have deep-seated hunch how best to manage your affairs. Be sure you include in your thoughts property, financial matters as well as emotional and personal relations. You then accomplish much today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—This is your day to get together with all associates, companions, colleagues; get their viewpoints even though it meant spending considerable time talking, discussing the irrelevant before you get desired information.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—How you are performing your everyday chores, the little events of daily living, provides the key to anything constructive you do today. Remember you become what you think, for "thoughts are things," so think rightly!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You have happy feeling today which increases by remembering that in sharing any feeling of well-being you open new avenues of expression, benefits, delights. Be happy. Entertain or accept invitations, too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY . . .

Today's child is one of those very sensitive youngsters who will always have his, or her, feelers out to find out what others are thinking or planning. This is excellent if rightly channeled by having your offspring in only the finest places, with the best types of person, in cheerful environment. Otherwise he, or she, will be just as receptive to conditions, persons, places that are not so beneficial. It's up to you to provide the type of life your progeny becomes accustomed to in the super-conscious.

COMMENTS:

ACROSS:

6. BAR is best. A BAY is defined as "a body of water partly enclosed by land"; also "an arm of the sea." It would be the surrounding land that might be crowded and hardly the BAY as a whole. "BAR" is a surer answer.

7. VASE is best because you'd expect her to be careful so as to avoid knocking or damaging it. A glass CASE might be a robust thing as a store showcase and not calling for any special care when being dusted.

9. FINED is best. The clue says "his own fault" suggesting some form of wrong doing, favoring FINED—punished. Being FIRED is not necessarily ANYBODY'S "fault," but may be due to some exigency of business.

12. Note how the clue is worded. The present tense "may be spending" conveys the idea that the wife's added spending synchronizes with the raise. This synchronizing points at once to the word RECENT as an apt answer. There is less point to selecting DECENT. If a husband were going to pass along any part of his raise to his wife he would probably do so whether it were a DECENT one or not.

23. RICE is best. RACE—the people, or consideration of nationality—means a great deal to all nations. "SOME nations" favors RICE, which means a great deal to certain PARTICULAR nations where it is a staple food.

25. WIRE is the stronger answer. You must know someone capable of sending you a WIRE of congratulation but we cannot take it for granted that you might get WINE—you MAY be a teetotaller. Again, if you DID get WINE, the natural time to actually GET it would be BEFORE and not ON your anniversary.

26. OAK is best. The wood of the OAK is expected to be first class. Many OARS today are not wood at all but aluminum or other product.

27. TEA is more direct. Most people would refer to the bathing in the sea or the "sea air" as having the stimulating effect, rather than the SEA itself.

DOWN:

2. "PRINTER" conveys a definite job, in which there is scope for advancement by industrious work. "PAINTER" is weakened by the clue giving no indication of whether an artist is meant, or a house decorator. Anyway, a house PAINTER cannot "go far" while he IS a house PAINTER, but a PRINTER can aspire to higher grades of PRINTING.

3. True of MAD, whether crazy or angry. A man can be really BAD in a variety of ways, for instance, after he has had an accident, but he is certainly far from menacing!

5. CENT is good; in a way it COVERS RENT. If he hasn't a CENT, clearly he cannot have any RENT. "RENT" without qualification such as "BACK RENT" suggests money owed for accommodation occupied, which means that if there is any question of paying the RENT, then you still HAVE got a roof over your head.

8. It is perfectly natural to imagine a man having successful SONS, and their success meaning a lot to him. "HIS SONG" implies that he has only written one, and it is a bit far-fetched to assume a man making any real success with his maiden effort at SONG writing.

10. A RETORT—apparatus used in chemical laboratories—would mean little to an ordinary man. A chemist's REPORT may be prepared FOR a non-chemist, and so could mean quite a lot.

15. ANY person owning such a painting can usually—but NOT ALWAYS, SELL it easily enough. The average man in the street would find it QUITE IMPOSSIBLE to TELL an unidentified painting by an old master.

20. A diver in difficulties may need AID, or he may manage without it. He MUST need AIR, just the same as everybody else, whether he is in difficulties or not. If he LACKS sufficient AIR, then the supplying of it would BE AID, thus AID is more comprehensive anyway.

23. The considerations of PROBABILITY suggested by the clue fits RAT best. If you see one RAT it is reasonable to suppose that there is PROBABLY another not far away—though you cannot see it. RUT is different; surely if you can see one RUT you can also SEE the other, since there will only be the width of a vehicle between them.

Hope of Rebuilding Abbey Theatre Fades

By LEN PROBST
United Press Staff Correspondent

DUBLIN (UP)—Plans to rebuild the famed Abbey Theatre, which has remained a blackened ruin in the centre of Dublin since it was gutted by fire in 1951, appear to be stalled indefinitely.

"The government must build it because we have no resources," explained the Abbey's director, Ernest Blythe.

Blythe said a national private subscription campaign never has been attempted because "we don't think we would get enough money to build a new theatre." The government gives the Abbey a $22,400 subsidy annually.

Blythe refused to estimate the cost of a new theatre, or to complain about the slowness of the government in providing a permanent home. Since the fire, the Abbey organization has used the big, cold 1,000-seat Queens Theatre.

The government in 1951 agreed, in principle, to rebuild the theatre on the site of the ruins where Sean O'Casey and John Millington Synge gave the world some of its finest dramas.

MANY PLANS

Plans for a new Abbey have been kicking around since 1937, 14 years before it was mysteriously destroyed by fire that started backstage in the scene dock in July, 1951, at night after the theatre had been emptied.

Year after year a new date for the new Abbey has been reported. Last year it was supposed to be in 1956, but that is now considered too early.

Once the government starts in earnest to consider plans for the new theatre, it is expected to take more than a year for final financial approval, and it will take two years to build.

Michael Scott, in consultation with a French theatre designer, Pierre Sonrel, has put innumerable plans on his drafting board for a new theatre, each successively cheaper to build.

Earliest plans called for a three-in-one theatre, a main theatre and two pocket-sized playhouses for experimental dramas and plays in Irish.

The three-in-one was abandoned for a single theatre with 750 to 800 seats. That was dropped for a 650-seat theatre, 100 seats more than the old Abbey so as to regain its lost intimacy.

JUST BEHAVE

Abbey players, of which there are now 22, over a jar of Irish whisky in a Dublin pub now and again admit that the Abbey is in the doldrums.

Like actors anywhere, they, too, are filled with harpoons of complaints which are thrown indiscriminately at management.

"We haven't had a new O'Casey for a long, long time," said one. Another complained that plays of Irish life only was too narrow a limitation, while another resented having to list his name in Irish on the program.

"What good does it do to get your name listed on the program, if it is only in Irish? Barry Fitzgerald and Sara Allgood never got famous in their Irish names."

Also, he complained that only actors who speak Gaelic as well as English are accepted into the Abbey.

A non-Abbey Dublin player summed up much of the Dublin criticism of present day Abbey players when he said:

"Abbey players don't act. All they do is go out on the stage and behave."

Basilio TV Choice

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP) — Carmen Basilio, top welterweight contender, is a lop-sided favorite at 17-5 to beat substitute Allie Gronik of Detroit tonight in their TV-radio 10-rounder at Memorial Auditorium.

Despite the odds, Basilio of nearby Canastota, N.Y., is taking a gamble. An upset would knock him out of a nearly certain title fight with Wednesday's Kid Gavilan-Johnny Saxton winner at Philadelphia.

Co-promoter Norman Rothschild expects about 4,500 fans and $15,000.

Rookie Gets Shutout

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (CP)—Rookie Hank Bassen registered a shutout in his second American Hockey League game as Buffalo Bisons defeated Providence Reds 8-0 Thursday night.

Ed Slowinski and Gordon Pennell paced the Bison attack with two goals each. Ken Hayden, Gaye Stewart, Steve Wochy and Charley Blair scored the others.

Stamps Pack Most Power

REGINA (CP) — Although they appear to have only an outside chance of catching a playoff berth, Calgary Stampeders pack more power offensively than any other club in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics released today by league staistician Bill Hawrylak of Regina show the Stampeders are leading the way in yards gained rushing and passing, in total yards gained per game and in first downs.

Statistics cover all league games played to date. Stampeders have played 14, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers 13 and Edmonton Eskimos and British Columbia Lions 12.

Stampeders show a net gain of 2,298 yards rushing. Eskimos are next with 2,017, followed by Riders 1,891, Bombers 1,386 and Lions 707. The split-T Esks are averaging 168 yards a game along the ground to lead in that department. Stamps are close behind at 164, while Riders average 146, Bombers 107 and Lions 59.

The Calgarians also lead in yards rushing per try with 5.5. Eskimos average 4.7, Riders 4.3, Bombers 3.8 and Lions 2.4.

Banned Bride Invited Back Expense Paid

Dorothy Holtz Hewitt, 21, "banned bride" of Shawnigan Lake School, has been asked to return at the school's expense.

This was revealed today by headmaster G. P. Kaye. Whether or not an apology for the affair was also made is not known.

The offer was made via letter dispatched Wednesday following a meeting of the school's board of governors.

"We are most anxious to resolve this matter for the sake of Mrs. Hewitt," said Mr. Kaye. Mrs. Hewitt has said she will not return until a complete apology is made.

Mrs. Hewitt, daughter of N. P. Holtz, Jamaica's accountant-general, who married Shawnigan teacher John Michael Hewitt at Duncan last month, says she was asked to leave after only four days with her husband, because of the color of her skin.

The letter dispatched by the board of governors said the school would handle Mrs. Hewitt's expenses both for her trip to Jamaica last month and her return.

Her husband, Mr. Hewitt, was given a copy of the letter.

HOUSTON (AP)—A Philippine Republic team defeated Lackland air force base 77-52 Thursday night and meet Houston's Ada Oilers tonight for the championship of a four-team international basketball tournament.

Ada Oilers won from a Republic of China team 43-42 Thursday night.

DIES AFTER BEE STING

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—A 56-year-old carpenter died Wednesday after a bee flew into his mouth and caused him to "tingle all over."

Coroner Tommy Lee said today George W. Walker died en route to hospital.

Lee said the cause of death had not been determined, adding that Walker apparently was in good health and had no heart trouble.

Saanich Girl Wins Garden Prize

Saanich schoolgirl Jean Davis took top honors this year in the Rotary Club Garden Contest, posting 91 points from a possible 100.

Young Jean was awarded the Rotary Club's trophy at a luncheon Thursday honoring successful contestants. Of 60 Saanich school children who entered the competition from 15 schools in the Saanich Peninsula, 52 qualified by scoring 50 points or more. Seventy-five points were given for the condition of the student's gardens and 25 points for exhibitions in the Saanichton Fall Fair.

Girls were required to show canned vegetables at the fair and boys exhibited green vegetables.

All seeds and supplies were donated to the children by the Rotary Club and products shown at the fair, 750 pounds in all, were sent to the Protestant Orphanage.

Judges were Mrs. Alec Turner and Allan Littler.

Individual runner-up was Bill Smith. School honors went to Patricia Bay Elementary.

International House Rotary's Gift to UBC

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Vancouver Rotary Club will construct a $150,000 International House at the University of B.C. to commemorate Rotary's 50th anniversary, it was announced Thursday night.

"This project fits right in with the international aspect of Rotary," said Tom Phillips, chairman of the club's community service committee.

IMPERIAL OIL DROPS FUEL OIL, GAS PRICE

A number of Imperial Oil Company service station operators made immediate downward adjustments on gasoline prices today on learning from the company that the wholesale price of gasoline had dropped one-half cent and light fuel oils a fifth-cent.

The announcement was made in Winnipeg, and will apply throughout Manitoba and western Canada.

The reduction here will range from 0.3 to 0.5 cents, depending on the individual operator. Company officials said the responsibility of retail prices lies solely wth the retailers.

Two dealers handling another make of gasoline said they had not heard of the Imperial Oil price drop, but that if Imperial dealers cut prices, others would follow suit within a few days.

In some instances local gas pump operators had made price adjustments by mid-morning.

'Hazel' Wrecks 120-Mile Area

Smashes Through Carolinas; Multi-Million Dollars Damage

TORONTO (BUP)—Torrential rains swept across the Toronto area today, and Hurricane Hazel was not far behind.

A full inch of rain fell on the city in four early-morning hours, blocking every traffic route into the city, flooding subways, roads and basements and causing a rash of traffic accidents.

Weather officials said more rain and strong winds were due tonight as the hurricane—worst of the season so far—heads north across western New York State. Seamen on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario were warned they may be hit by winds of 40 to 70 miles per hour.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, still packing winds of 100 miles an hour, smashed its way northward through eastern North Carolina today after wreaking havoc along 120 miles of the Carolinas coastline.

There were no immediate reports of serious casualties among the well-warned residents of the coast. Most of them sought safer quarters. A few minor injuries were reported from falling debris.

Property damage ran into millions of dollars as the storm tore up coastal installations, washed away houses and snarled communications. Heaviest damage was caused by towering waves.

It was moving north at about 27 miles an hour and the weather bureau said it gradually would lose force as it moved over the land across North Carolina, Virginia and into the North Atlantic states.

FREIGHTERS ADRIFT

The North Carolina State highway patrol reported three freighters broke loose from their moorings at Wilmington and were moving down the Cape Fear River. It was feared they might strike highway bridges in their path.

Nelson Calhoun, Wilmington Star-News photographer, reported seeing the 40-room, four-story Breakers Hotel, near Carolina Beach, south of Wilmington, collapse after winds had ripped off its roof. Nobody was reported hurt.

GERMAN ARMS NATO MEETING BEARS FRUIT

PARIS (UP) — A special North Atlantic Treaty Organization group preparing the way for German rearmament and entry into the Western alliance has reached a large measure of agreement, an official announcement said today.

Voyager Stiff After 115 Days On Tiny Raft

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP)—William Willis reached his Samoan goal today after 115 days at sea on a 35-foot raft and with a grin said "It feels strange to walk."

The 61-year-old veteran of the sea, who had followed the drift of the current more than 6,000 miles from Peru, was towed into harbor and received a tumultuous welcome from Samoans. (See story page 2.)

STRYCHNINE MURDER CASE

Bell Clawed Himself In Agony Says Doctor

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—Mrs. Mary Bell dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief today while a doctor described how her husband, whom she is accused of giving a fatal dose of strychnine, died in agony.

Dr. R. H. Anderson testified at the 48-year-old widow's murder trial that he was called at 3 a.m. Jan. 2 and arrived at the Bell home some 20 minutes before Percy Bell died.

He said Bell was conscious and cried out that the pain was "awful," but he was unable to tell him what was the matter.

The doctor said he was unwilling to come at first "because of holiday over-indulgence."

Anderson said Bell was moaning softly when he found him and there were marks on the chest indicaing "the patient had clawed himself in distress."

When he went downstairs to prepare a hypodermic, he said, Bell had another convulsion and had vomited so strongly that there was a "brown substance" on the bed and the wall.

After the hypodermic, he said, Bell went into another convulsion and died. He said the only cause of death he could think of under the circumstancse was a cerebal hemorrhage and so he signed a death certificate to that effect.

BOSS TOO BEAUTIFUL—BRITISH LASSES STRIKE

BLACKBURN, Eng. (UP)—Union officials today sided with 490 women employees who went on strike protesting that a 25-year-old red-haired forewoman was "too young and beautiful" for the job.

The women went back to work only after a hasty union-management meeting—and after the lovely forewoman went home.

Union officials asked management to consider demoting her. But the London Daily Mirror rallied to her defense.

"Do the factory lasses resent her because she is a young woman boss?" the tabloid asked.

"May we make the daring suggestion that what counts in holding down a job and winning promotion is ability?"

Surprise Solo Flier Tries Victoria to Cuba Non-Stop

London Dockers Reject Call To End Strike

Government May Order Army Out

LONDON (UP)—A left-wing stevedores' union tonight turned down a government appeal to call off the London dock strike.

The appeal was made on behalf of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government by Minister of Labor Sir Walter Monckton, in a meeting with the National Amalgamated Dockers and Stevedores Union. The union had ordered the labor stoppage that now has idled 29,000 dock workers and ships repairmen in the great London port.

Churchill's cabinet met urgently to consider possible new steps to end the Communist-encouraged port tie-up which already is pinching the British housewife's pocketbook.

The price of eggs skyrocketed six cents a dozen today and tea went up seven cents a pound as shortages began developing from the port shutdown.

An accompanying strike by busmen reduced London's traffic to chaos.

Leftwing Labor leaders were threatening to make the dock tie-up nation wide.

When Churchill summoned his ministers to 10 Downing Street, it was for their third special session in four days.

The extraordinary session began after Labor Minister Sir Walter Monkton, on Churchill's instructions, had called all sides of the dispute in for separate talks.

The government was almost certain to call in troops to unload shipments of food and other vital supplies sooner or later.

The walkout on the docks is now into its 12th day.

The Communists were in full cry, calling on railwaymen, engineers, shipbuilders and miners to follow the lead of the 22,000 striking stevedores and the kindred walkout of 15,746 busmen.

Light Plane on Long Hop

Attempt at smashing world long-distance record for light planes was launched from Patricia Bay Airport this morning by American sportsman-flyer in single-engine Cessna 170, similar to plane above owned by R. W. Page of Victoria. Flyer was D. A. Fuhriman, 45, of Utah, who has been defeated three times before in long-distance attempts.

Utah Man Seek's World's Long-Distance Record

A lone American sportsman-flyer took off from Patricia Bay Airport at 10.07 this morning, to attempt a 2,700-mile, non-stop flight to Cuba in a Cessna 170, single-engine aircraft.

His objective is to set the world's long distance record for light planes.

His attempt came as a complete surprise to airport officials. The flyer, D. A. Fuhriman, 45, of Treemonton, Utah, whose hobby is light plane flying, arrived at Pat Bay from Seattle at 9.22 a.m.

Filing of his flight plan with the control tower was the first notice of his record-breaking attempt.

This is his fourth attempt at a light plane long distance record. The other three were defeated by bad weather or fuel shortage.

The cabin of Mr. Fuhriman's light plane was crammed with extra gas containers when he took off this morning. The plane carried 190 gallons of gas. According to the flight plan, he has enough gas for 26 hours of flying, and he expects to reach Tampa, Florida, in 24 hours.

"If I have enough gas in hand, I'll go on to Havana," he told airport workers.

TAKE-OFF EXCELLENT

The 2,600-mile flight to Tampa would also be a world's record, he said. The present record was set in 1951 by Max Conrad, Los Angeles to New York.

Control tower officials described the take-off as "excellent," despite the heavy load the plane was carrying. The Cessna used up most of the east-west runway before it was airborne, but the climbing angle was "normal."

Besides gas, the plane carries only the pilot, radio and navigation equipment, sandwiches and coffee.

"If I get a break in the weather, I'll make it," Mr. Fuhriman said. He expects good weather with the exception of a cloud front hanging over Florida, which he hopes will have moved by the time he reaches there.

However, airport officials said that heavy winds were reported 600 miles south of Seattle this morning, moving in a northeasterly direction, and may give the flier trouble.

Claude Butler of Butler Brothers, Victoria, who owns a similar plane, believes Mr. Fuhriman has a "fighting chance," but may have cut his fuel requirements "pretty fine."

Mr. Butler describes the Cessna as a four-place, high-wing, cabin aircraft. Its single engine develops 145 horsepower, and normal cruising speed is 125 miles per hour, with a normal range of 500 miles.

FORMER FARMER

Mr. Fuhriman, a former farmer who is now an executive with an aviation company, made his last attempt at the world's record in January, on a flight from Seattle to Miami. He was forced down by lack of fuel 170 miles short of his objective.

Earlier, he attempted to fly from Alaska to Washington, D.C., and failed due to weather conditions.

His flight plan called for flying at a comparatively low altitude until enough gas was used to enable him to reach higher altitudes for more economical fuel consumption. Under normal cruising conditions, the Cessna uses about seven gallons per hour.

Supervisors Crash Ford Picket Line

Strikers Jostle With Policemen

From BUP, CP Dispatches

OAKVILLE, Ont.—Police and pickets clashed today in the first day of a strike of 2,600 assembly line workers at Ford of Canada's Oakville plant.

The United Auto Workers' Union strikers (CIO), marching in a drenching downpour, tried in vain to push back a carload of Ford supervisors as provincial police escorted them into the plant.

Pickets claimed William Walker, the Oakville general manager, "nearly ran down three of our men."

The union had imposed a ban on plant supervisors, although it was allowing office, maintenance, fire protection and cafeteria employees to go through the line.

The tense situation developed after provincial police took over direction of heavy traffic near the plant's east gate.

A further strike that could idle a total of 10,000 men in Ford's Ontario empire seemed imminent.

WANT NATIONAL PACT

At Windsor, George Burt, Canadian regional director of the UAW, said strike demands now will include a national Ford contract.

This would mean that Ford employees at company installations all across Canada would be included under one contract settled at one negotiating session. The demand was first made about the time the UAW was certified bargaining agent at the new Oakville plant.

At that time Ford officials said it was not possible because of differing conditions in different parts of the country.

'21 YEARS OF MY LIFE WASTED'

Whisky-Drinking Blonde Fights Pilot; Tries to Jump 8,000 Ft.

GLEN ROCK, N.J. (UP)—A 29-year-old pilot described in harrowing detail today how a whisky-drinking blonde, who had chartered his plane, went berserk and tried to jump out, 8,000 feet over Philadelphia.

Louis Phillipe, Jr., said the woman scratched and bit him, tore off his earphones and then pushed herself out of the cockpit door "up to her hips."

He banked the single-engined plane sharply on its left wingtip, he said, and she slid back inside. She began screaming and he had to "rabbit punch" her twice on the back of the neck to quiet her, Phillipe said.

The woman, tall, blue-eyed Louise Lynch, 36, of Flushing, N.Y., was taken to Bergen Pines Hospital in Paramus, N.J., for psychiatric examination after Phillipe made an emergency landing at nearby Teterboro airport.

Police captured the woman after she leaped from the plane at the airport and ran across the field in her bare feet. At Bergen County police headquarters she ripped off her red bouffant dress and raced down a corridor in her petticoat when officials sought to search her.

Police said she screamed, "21 years of my life wasted," and talked of a broken 20-year-old romance with a New York labor leader identified only as "Tracy." Police said the labor leader lived in Flushing, but residents there said they did not know the woman.

The pilot said the ordeal left him feeling "lucky to be alive."

VANCOUVER POLICE FREE TO STRIKE, SAYS COURT

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The police force of Canada's third largest city was free to take strike action today but union president Fred Dougherty said a walkout was not planned at present.

Recommendations of an arbitration board which called for pay increases and a new promotional policy were rejected in Supreme Court Thursday. Mr. Justice MacFarlane ruled the recommendations did not constitute an award, and said the police were free to take strike action.

Union officials said they were "very disappointed" in the court decision and indicated an appeal might be launched. (See story, Page 3).

ON UNEMPLOYMENT

B.C. Doing Share Wicks Tells TUC

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP) — Lyle Wicks, Social Credit provincial labor minister, told the British Columbia Trade Union Congress here that the federal government should be building "three Trans-Canada highways" as its share of combatting the problem of unemployment.

Wicks said that as its share of easing the situation, the British Columbia government was planning to start work on a new bridge outside the city "as soon as possible" and other measures included the Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension and "other public works projects."

EMERGENCY SESSION?

The minister's statement came after a convention call for a federal public works program to combat "rising unemployment."

Today the convention will decide whether it will ask for an emergency session of the Legislature to focus national attention on the job situation, described by union delegates as "Canada's number one problem."

FEDERAL PROGRAM

The convention called for a federal program to include roads, schools, hospitals, low rental housing and the development of natural resources.

The labor body also called for socialization of the B.C. Electric. (See page 3.)

He served overseas during the Second World War.

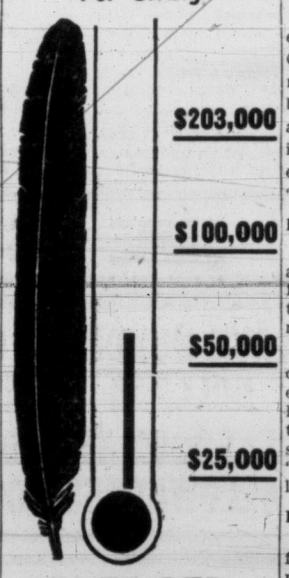
Ho Chi Minh May Seek Loan From France

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Indo-China's Red chieftain, Ho Chi Minh, who won Northern Indo-China and this once-prosperous "Pearl City" of the French empire in a bitter eight-year war, was reported today to be seeking French loans or credits to keep it going.

"Uncle Ho" is scheduled to make his formal entry into his new capital here Saturday.

French authorities have denied persistent rumors that the French would extend a credit of about $2,870,000 to the Viet Minh. They fear to risk antagonizing both the United States and Free South Vietnam, to which they have promised all-out aid.

But there is no doubt France would like to preserve economic ties with Hanoi and the Communist north, to protect French citizens and cultural interests in the Red River delta.



Crossworders Fail; Prize Jumps to $350

Times crossword fans failed for the eleventh successive week to solve the fine shades of meaning in Puzzle No. 81, with the result that the prize money for the new puzzle jumps to $350, one of the highst points the puzzle has reached.

The $350 would go to a bonus winner who is a regular subscriber if a correct solution of puzzle No. 82 is submitted.

One of the "toughies" of the last puzzle was the answer "cent" for No. 5 down; "not having it, a man may have no roof over his head." The composer rules this is a better answer than "rent" or "tent" which many puzzlers gave. "Mad," "printer," "sell," and "retort" were among other sticklers. The complete explanation of the last puzzle and the new $350 puzzle are on page 27.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men were fined a total of $1,750 in police court here today, the first convictions for selling illegal lottery tickets since an expose by a newspaper.

The other two, Arthur Smith, 51, and George Daum, 59, were fined $500 and $250. All three pleaded guilty to the charges.

Hurricane May Strike Toronto

Wind Damage in United States Runs Into Millions of Dollars

TORONTO (BUP)—Torrential rains swept across the Toronto area today, and Hurricane Hazel was not far behind.

A full inch of rain fell on the city in four early-morning hours, blocking every traffic route into the city, flooding subways, roads and basements and causing a rash of traffic accidents.

Weather officials said more rain and strong winds were due tonight as the hurricane—worst of the season so far—heads north across western New York State. Seamen on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario were warned they may be hit by winds of 40 to 70 miles per hour.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, still packing winds of 100 miles an hour, smashed its way northward through eastern North Carolina today after wreaking havoc along 120 miles of the Carolinas coastline.

There were no immediate reports of serious casualties among the well-warned residents of the coast. Most of them sought safer quarters. A few minor injuries were reported from falling debris.

Property damage ran into millions of dollars as the storm tore up coastal installations, washed away houses and snarled communications. Heaviest damage was caused by towering waves.

It was moving north at about 27 miles an hour and the weather bureau said it gradually would lose force as it moved over the land across North Carolina, Virginia and into the North Atlantic states.

The North Carolina State highway patrol reported three freighters broke loose from their moorings at Wilmington and were moving down the Cape Fear River. It was feared they might strike highway bridges in their path.

N.Y. Yankees Buy First Negro Player

NEW YORK (UP) — New York Yankees announced today they have purchased the contract of Elston Howard, 25-year-old Negro catcher, from their Kansas City farm team.

Howard will be the first Negro ever to play with the Yankees if he can make the team during spring training.

Howard, voted the International League's most valuable player in 1954, batted .331 for the Toronto Maple Leafs, missing the batting title by only two points. He hit 22 homers and drove in 108 runs.

IMPERIAL OIL DROPS FUEL OIL, GAS PRICE

A number of Imperial Oil Company service station operators made immediate downward adjustments on gasoline prices today on learning from the company that the wholesale price of gasoline had dropped one-half cent and light fuel oils a fifth-cent.

The announcement was made in Winnipeg, and will apply throughout Manitoba and western Canada.

The reduction here will range from 0.3 to 0.5 cents, depending on the individual operator. Company officials said the responsibility of retail prices lies solely wth the retailers.

STRYCHNINE MURDER CASE

Bell Clawed Himself In Agony Says Doctor

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—Mrs. Mary Bell dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief today while a doctor described how her husband, whom she is accused of giving a fatal dose of strychnine, died in agony.

Dr. R. H. Anderson testified at the 48-year-old widow's murder trial that he was called at 3 a.m. Jan. 2 and arrived at the Bell home some 20 minutes before Percy Bell died.

He said Bell was conscious and cried out that the pain was "awful," but he was unable to tell him what was the matter.

The doctor said he was unwilling to come at first "because of holiday over-indulgence."

Anderson said Bell was moaning softly when he found him and there were marks on the chest indicaing "the patient had clawed himself in distress."

When he went downstairs to prepare a hypodermic, he said, Bell had another convulsion and had vomited so strongly that there was a "brown substance" on the bed and the wall.

After the hypodermic, he said, Bell went into another convulsion and died. He said the only cause of death he could think of under the circumstances was a cerebal hemorrhage and so he signed a death certificate to that effect.

Hope for Strike End

TORONTO (BUP) — Chief concilator Louis Fine called a meeting today of Massey-Harris Ferguson Company officials and its striking workers, raising hopes for an end to the one-month walkout.

U.S. Pilot Sets Off Alone in Cessna 170

A small, single-engine Cessna 170 private plane was winging its way over the northwestern United States this afternoon after taking off from Patricia Bay Airport this morning on an attempted non-stop flight to Cuba.

D. A. Fuhriman, 45, of Treemonton, Utah, took airport officials completely by surprise when he flew from Seattle and announced his intention to try for a new world's long-distance record for light aircraft.

The sportsman-flyer landed at Pat Bay at 9.22 a.m. and left again at 10.07 on what he hopes will be a continuous flight over 2,700 miles.

Filing of his flight plan with the control tower was the first notice of his record-breaking attempt.

This is his fourth attempt at a light plane long distance record. The other three were defeated by bad weather or fuel shortage.

The cabin of Mr. Fuhriman's light plane was crammed with extra gas containers when he took off this morning. The plane carried 190 gallons of gas. According to the flight plan, he has enough gas for 26 hours of flying, and he expects to reach Tampa, Florida, in 24 hours.

"If I have enough gas in hand, I'll go on to Havana," he told airport workers.

TAKE-OFF EXCELLENT

The 2,600-mile flight to Tampa would also be a world's record, he said. The present record was set in 1951 by Max Conrad, Los Angeles to New York.

Control tower officials described the take-off as "excellent," despite the heavy load the plane was carrying. The Cessna used up most of the east-west runway before it was airborne, but the climbing angle was "normal."

Besides gas, the plane carries only the pilot, radio and navigation equipment, sandwiches and coffee.

"If I get a break in the weather, I'll make it," Mr. Fuhriman said. He expects good weather with the exception of a cloud front hanging over Florida, which he hopes will have moved by the time he reaches there.

However, airport officials said that heavy winds were reported 600 miles south of Seattle this morning, moving in a northeasterly direction, and may give the flier trouble.

Claude Butler of Butler Brothers, Victoria, who owns a similar plane, believes Mr. Fuhriman has a "fighting chance," but may have cut his fuel requirements "pretty fine."

Mr. Butler describes the Cessna as a four-place, high-wing, cabin aircraft. Its single engine develops 145 horsepower, and normal cruising speed is 125 miles per hour, with a normal range of 500 miles.

FORMER FARMER

Mr. Fuhriman, a former farmer who is now an executive with an aviation company, made his last attempt at the world's record in January, on a flight from Seattle to Miami. He was forced down by lack of fuel 170 miles short of his objective.

Earlier, he attempted to fly from Alaska to Washington, D.C., and failed due to weather conditions.

His flight plan called for flying at a comparatively low altitude until enough gas was used to enable him to reach higher altitudes for more economical fuel consumption. Under normal cruising conditions, the Cessna uses about seven gallons per hour.

London Dockers Reject Call To End Strike

LONDON (UP)—A left-wing stevedores' union tonight turned down a government appeal to call off the London dock strike.

The appeal was made on behalf of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government by Minister of Labor Sir Walter Monckton, in a meeting with the National Amalgamated Dockers and Stevedores Union. The union had ordered the labor stoppage that now has idled 29,000 dock workers and ships repairment in the great London port.

Churchill's cabinet met urgently to consider possible new steps to end the Communist-encouraged port tie-up which already is pinching the British housewife's pocketbook.

The extraordinary session began after Labor Minister Sir Walter Monkton, on Churchill's instructions, had called all sides of the dispute in for separate talks.

The government was almost certain to call in troops to unload shipments of food and other vital supplies sooner or later.

'21 YEARS OF MY LIFE WASTED'

Whisky-Drinking Blonde Fights Pilot; Tries to Jump 8,000 Ft.

GLEN ROCK, N.J. (UP)—A 29-year-old pilot described in harrowing detail today how a whisky-drinking blonde, who had chartered his plane, went berserk and tried to jump out, 8,000 feet over Philadelphia.

Louis Phillipe, Jr., said the woman scratched and bit him, tore off his earphones and then pushed herself out of the cockpit door "up to her hips."

He banked the single-engined plane sharply on its left wingtip, he said, and she slid back inside. She began screaming and he had to "rabbit punch" her twice on the back of the neck to quiet her, Phillipe said.

The woman, tall, blue-eyed Louise Lynch, 36, of Flushing, N.Y., was taken to Bergen Pines Hospital in Paramus, N.J., for psychiatric examination after Phillipe made an emergency landing at nearby Teterboro airport.

Police captured the woman after she leaped from the plane at the airport and ran across the field in her bare feet. At Bergen County police headquarters she ripped off her red bouffant dress and raced down a corridor in her petticoat when officials sought to search her.

Police said she screamed, "21 years of my life wasted," and talked of a broken 20-year-old romance with a New York labor leader identified only as "Tracy." Police said the labor leader lived in Flushing, but residents there said they did not know the woman.

The pilot said the ordeal left him feeling "lucky to be alive."

Crossworders Fail; Prize Jumps to $350

Times crossword fans failed for the eleventh successive week to solve the fine shades of meaning in Puzzle No. 81, with the result that the prize money for the new puzzle jumps to $350, one of the highst points the puzzle has reached.

The $350 would go to a bonus winner who is a regular subscriber if a correct solution of puzzle No. 82 is submitted.

One of the "toughies" of the last puzzle was the answer "cent" for No. 5 down; "not having it, a man may have no roof over his head." The composer rules this is a better answer than "rent" or "tent" which many puzzlers gave. "Mad," "printer," "sell," and "retort" were among other sticklers. The complete explanation of the last puzzle and the new $350 puzzle are on page 27.
